LAKE COUNTY PUBLIC LIBRARY

Over a period of twenty-seven years, twenty-seven classes have graduated from Lew Wallace as mature, responsible citizens. As the Class of 1960 approaches graduation, we too have reached another goal. Ninth graders are no longer bewildered freshmen; sophomores eagerly await the title of upperclassmen; and juniors are looked upon as the future school leaders.

Throughout this year we have made new friends, found new pastimes, studied new subjects, and acquired new interests. Becoming part of a group and sharing work and fun have made us recognize the influence of the hand of friendship. We have extended our hands in service as our many clubs and organizations have expanded. The spirit of sportsmanship has kept our hands reaching toward the goal of fair play. While delving through books and searching for knowledge, we have stretched our hands toward the lamp of learning. Through all these steps leading to maturity, we realize that the story of our year can be told

*Pernis,
We've had French
together for two long years now and I guess
we can say it's been
fun. You're a good friend
Best of luck to you in the future. Bye

We Extend Friendship

A friendly hello between classes,
An invitation to share the "Mystic Moments" of the Inaugural Ball,
An exchange of class rings,
A telephone conversation of long duration,
A visit to a classmate when he is ill,
A special smile from a special person,
An hour spent listening to a friend's woes and worries,
A radiant sunrise seen with a prom date,

These are the ways we extend friendship.

September Means Getting Back

Discussing assignments and helping each other with answers are Jill Johnson and Reggie Sohacki.

Stairways are always crowded between classes as students rush to their next destination.

In the middle of the school day we pause for lunch, and the cafeteria becomes the scene of friendly chatter. Mrs. Clara Masters hands Joan Schaser her plate while Bill Engelen and John Garapich decide whether to take carrots or peas.

Into The Routine . . .

We looked forward to this day with mixed emotions — September 9 — the first day of the new school year. With the ringing of a bell, 2,587 students started back to the routine of everyday school life. It seemed difficult to forget about summer splash parties, weiner roasts, and hours of extra sleep, but we soon found out we had to live differently. From the very first bugle, the pace is set.

We are concerned with changing program cards, getting new books, greeting new friends, and becoming acquainted with new teachers. We struggle through the crowded halls, rush to classes and try to settle down to the business of learning. As the dismissal bell rings, we hurry to our lockers wondering what books to take home.

Although feelings range from the obvious confusion of a freshman starting a new life, to the carefree confidence of a senior soon to end his high school career, everyone agrees that September is exciting.

Carrying books isn't an easy task. Jack McKinney and Pat Dowdy are running into complications as they deliver text books from the storeroom to the classroom teacher.

"How will I ever get all my homework done?" wonders Tom Hrinda as he tries to decide what books to take home.

September 2 was an unforgettable evening for these two senior girls. Mr. Tom Higgins, a Gary disc jockey, interviews Football-O-Rama queen, Eleanor Buzuvis, while Mr. Gene Kirtland presents a bouquet of red roses to Pat Haberkorn, alternate.

Students enjoy themselves at stag dances with very little dancing, but much laughing, talking, and strolling around to see who else has come for an evening of fun.

Ushers In Queens, Games, And Dances . . .

Dispelling the adage that school is all work and no play, a program of fun-packed social activities provided us with plenty to do.

Although a light drizzle prevailed the night of September 2, Football-O-Rama festivities were gay. Marking the night was the crowning of our Football-O-Rama queen, Eleanor Buzuvis. Wallace showed its great potential by defeating Emerson. The score was 9-0.

Nominating of our homecoming queen candidates by the senior football players and the Student Council, the sale of Homecoming mums by the Publications Staff, the pep rally, the football game, the crowning of Bunnie Lazzaro as our 1959 Homecoming queen, and the dance following the game comprised our traditional Homecoming events.

As the football season progressed, nights became a bit chillier. Half time generally found us at the concession stands eating freshly popped popcorn or sipping hot coffee. We wouldn't have missed the excitement of this season for the world, especially since it brought us a city championship in football.

A crown, a football, a gold pendant, and a dozen roses were presented to Bunnie Lazzaro, 1959 Homecoming Queen. The court members, Karen Philipps, Carol Laskowski, Pat Hodurski, and Sarah Flynn, each received a silver pendant and yellow roses.

Bright yellow mums give Homecoming an added touch. Barbara Vorkapich, chairman of the mum sale, checks off names. Florie Pilla, Judy Hadberg, Rhonda Beres, and Pam Duvall receive their mums to wear to the game.

New Fads Develop As The Months

Most teenage activities do not change much from year to year, but this year saw many new fads added and some old ones revived. Anyone who has kept his eyes open would often get the feeling he was back in the roaring 20's. The number of Model A's, Oaklands, and '29 Fords seen around school has made this our number one fad.

After a dance or a game, we generally found ourselves craving a hot beef sandwich or a pizza. Pete and Snooks was just the place. There we chatted, laughed, and showed off our newest fashions. Many of the girls wore the stylish racoon-collared coats, while other preferred the smart looking "boy" coat. Pleated skirts, blazers, boot shoes, and colored sweat socks were a must among the fashion-conscious girls. Boys took to wearing the ever popular crew necks or the newer bulky knit sweaters.

These many fads were the icing on the cake that made this year different from the others.

Thank goodness for Alexander Graham Bell's wonderful invention. Even though this phone call has lasted an hour, Kim Polizotto chuckles as Marilyn Schaefer asks him if he is tired of standing up so long.

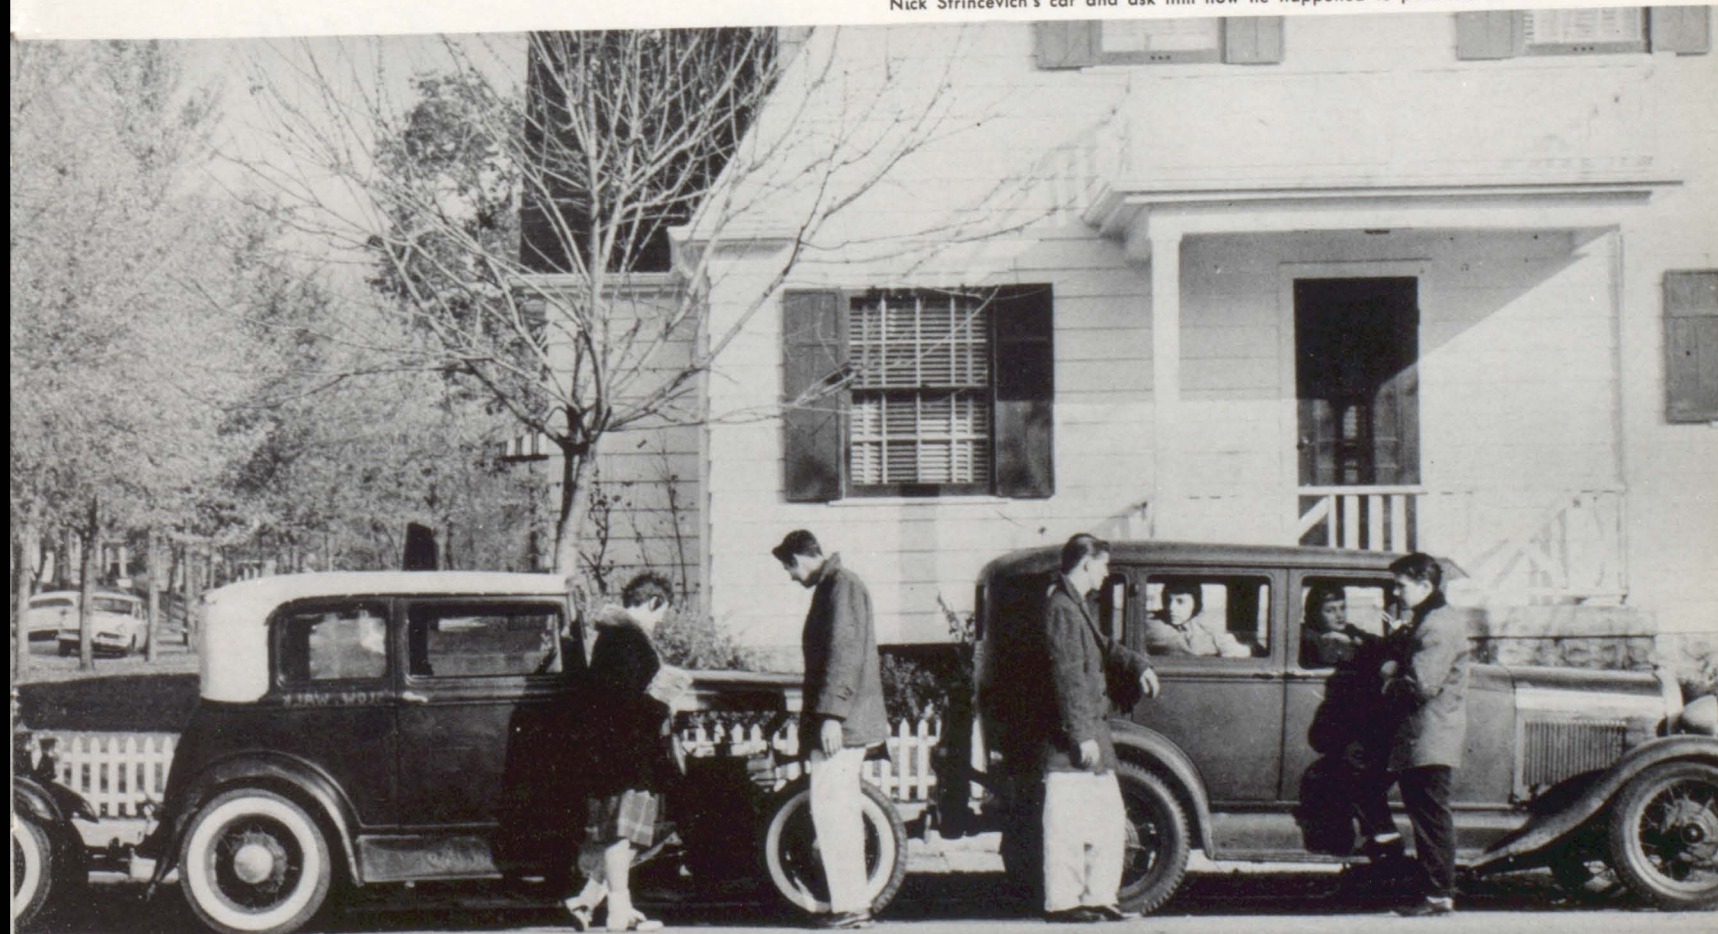

Unfold . . .

After games and dances many students seem to have a yen for a sizzling pizza. Jean Muir and Gilbert Gruenberg are no exception, as they share this Italian specialty.

Model A cars certainly were the newest fad this year. Ed Kish is about ready to take his friends, Veronica Kisylia, Marilyn Amidel, and David Mantz home from school. Joe Komisarcik is explaining to Sharon Ennis the fundamentals of his car's motor. Pat Apolzan and Jerry Bolde are quite impressed with Nick Strincevich's car and ask him how he happened to purchase it.

Holiday Activities Add Variety

The Thanksgiving and Christmas seasons are a mixture of a little of everything. School events were filled with gaiety and color, but often there was a note of solemnity. We did not forget, either, that charity is a virtue.

The gym literally rocked at the annual Turkey Hop, while a lighted Christmas tree radiated peace at the Christmas stag dance. The Inaugural Ball was the epitome of the winter social season. We prayed together at Vespers and we were reverent at the Christmas Pageant.

Our most sincere and lasting holiday happiness was the self-satisfaction we experienced as a result of extending our hand of friendship to those less fortunate than we. Packing baskets of food for needy families taught us that it is more blessed to give than to receive. In this and in other services, such as carolling throughout the hospitals or making tray favors for the sick, students found that unselfishness can be personally rewarding.

Mickey Varso checks her list as Bernadine Koziatsek, David Shults, and Larry McDonald place food items in the Thanksgiving basket, which was given to a needy family. This project was undertaken by the senior civics classes.

A large wall mural, portraying a winter scene, set the mood for the two hundred couples attending the annual Inaugural Ball. Among those attending this gala affair are Beverly Rabick, Dale Allen, president of Student Council, Ed Knight and Sylvia Schulties, chairman of the ball.

The Three Kings, portrayed by Ed Broberg, Dave Crane, and Tom Zaradich, add realism to the traditional Christmas Pageant.

To Our Lives . . .

Paulette Kappas and Ron Blake put the finishing touches on the Christmas tree they have laboriously decorated.

Spring Events Bring

The days grew longer; the weather became warmer; the leaves grew greener; the air seemed sweeter — Spring arrived. With its approach, we found it rather difficult to concentrate on our school work. Our minds drifted into endless daydreams.

The most dreamed about event was the junior-senior prom because it represents to us a perfect night. Some of us remembered that "special someone" who gave each song a certain meaning, while others of us remembered our first new formal or tux. Although the event ended all too quickly, April 29 will always mean a great deal to many of us.

Annual distribution today marked a red letter day as we near the end of the school year. While we should be studying for final exams, we are engaged in signing each other's yearbooks.

Class and club elections, Activity Day, and Senior Honor Society Induction came all too soon. These events will soon be followed by Baccalaureate and Commencement — June 5 and June 7.

Mickey Varso wants everything to be perfect for that all-important moment, graduation, as she straightens the tassel on Steve Gledich's cap.

Students don't seem to mind the hardness of the corridor floor as they are engrossed in signing each others Quill and Blades.

The School Year To A Close . . .

Boys in white jackets and girls in billowy formals created the splendor of the junior-senior prom. Paul Seamon, Lynn Pruitt, Sue Wagner, Walter Wallin, Diane Schilling, and Chuck Erdei pause between dances to refresh themselves at the punch bowl.

We Mold Our Future

An aptitude test administered by the guidance department,
A cultural program broadening our horizons,
A College Day appointment with the representative of our choice,
A new awareness of the world's changing situations,
A chance to see our city government in action,
A scholarship application sent in with fingers crossed,
A report about Nikita Krushchev's visit to the United States,
A solution to a challenging algebraic equation,

These are the ways we mold our future.

Floyd Asher, principal

Education has long played an important role in our American democracy.

President Eisenhower in an open letter to America's students said, "But essentially it is nothing more than being a good member of your community, helping those who need your help, striving for a sympathetic understanding of those who oppose you, doing each day's job a little better than the previous day's, placing the common good before personal profit."

Our school principals and their staffs, assisted by the Superintendent, his assistant, the Board of Education, and the P.T.A. officers and organization have dedicated their lives to the achievement of these worthwhile goals.

They believe that it is possible for today's youth to take part in America's affairs while they are students in school. For their consistent and available help and understanding we express our appreciation to all the people pictured on this page. Under their guidance we have a task to perform — living up to what they expect of us.

IVANHOE, SILAS MARNER, GIANTS IN THE EARTH, and TALE OF TWO CITIES are but a few of the great novels read during the course of our high school careers. Karen Denesuk, Joyce Mrak, Nancy Given, and Carmela Pullara scan the pages of the required books which have become a part of their literary background.

Present requirements for graduation tend to emphasize eight or more semesters of work related to the communications skills of reading, writing, speaking and listening. Gradually, students are led to thoughtful reading, intelligent listening, clear thinking, creative writing, and effective conversation.

Reading ability is promoted and developed through studies made of great authors' works. As freshmen, we delight in literature as the romantic novel, Scotts' IVAN-HOE, is introduced to us. We find pleasure in plays such as JULIUS CAESAR the following year. We also learn a simple method of self-appraisal by writing our autobiographies during our sophomore year. Rolvaag's GIANTS IN THE EARTH and Dicken's A TALE OF TWO CITIES help us search deeply into the paths of human behavior.

Writing and speaking help us express our feelings and ideas to others. To develop these skills we study English composition, journalism, and speech.

The ability to understand what we read and the ability to write or talk about it are our goals. The success we achieve in life is partially determined by how little or how much we have gained through our communication skills.

A steady stream of juniors to and from the downtown library means term topic time. Gerrie Rutka and Bill Best, having found research material, are leaving the library. Tony Massa and Rich Polk, just entering, plan to spend the day working there.

Steeped in deep concentration, Bill Kopko is attempting to visualize the answer to a problem during a math test, while Valerie Ordinsky has just found the solution.

"How can fish breathe under water?" ask Ed Menzie and Ethel Bone, two freshman biology students. Miss Lola Lemon explains this phenomenon as she points to the gills, the breathing apparatus of the fish.

Reports of Russia's scientific advancement have caused a re-evaluation of our own educational system — more emphasis on science and math. Although one year of science and two years of math fulfill the requirements for graduation, courses in chemistry, physics, advanced algebra, and solid geometry are offered to those who want to further their knowledge.

Science and math are not limited strictly to "book learning." Practical applications are a part of classroom learning. Dissecting frogs and examining bacteria under microscopes in biology, or making chlorine in the chemistry lab are but a few of the many experiments we do, each experiment giving us a clearer understanding of these vast fields.

Lectures by Mr. Daniel H. Lome, traveling science teacher, were sponsored by the National Science Foundation. Science "came alive" when some of us participated in his demonstrations. By attending the weekly Science Seminar in Gary, various students explored these subjects even further. Many opportunities are being provided to keep students up to date on the latest developments in specialized fields.

Social Studies Develop Better

Human Understanding . . .

Rita Reinke, Theresa Harrison, and Rich Osika are busily working on a topography map of a European country as an outside project for world history.

Mr. Alois Wozniak, sixth district councilman, answers questions which arose in the minds of civics students, Sylvia Schulties, Nick Radulovich, and John Patz as they observed a City Council meeting.

"To know nothing of the past," said an ancient philosopher, "is to understand little of the present and to have no conception of the future." The importance of social studies in our daily lives is not minimized during our school years.

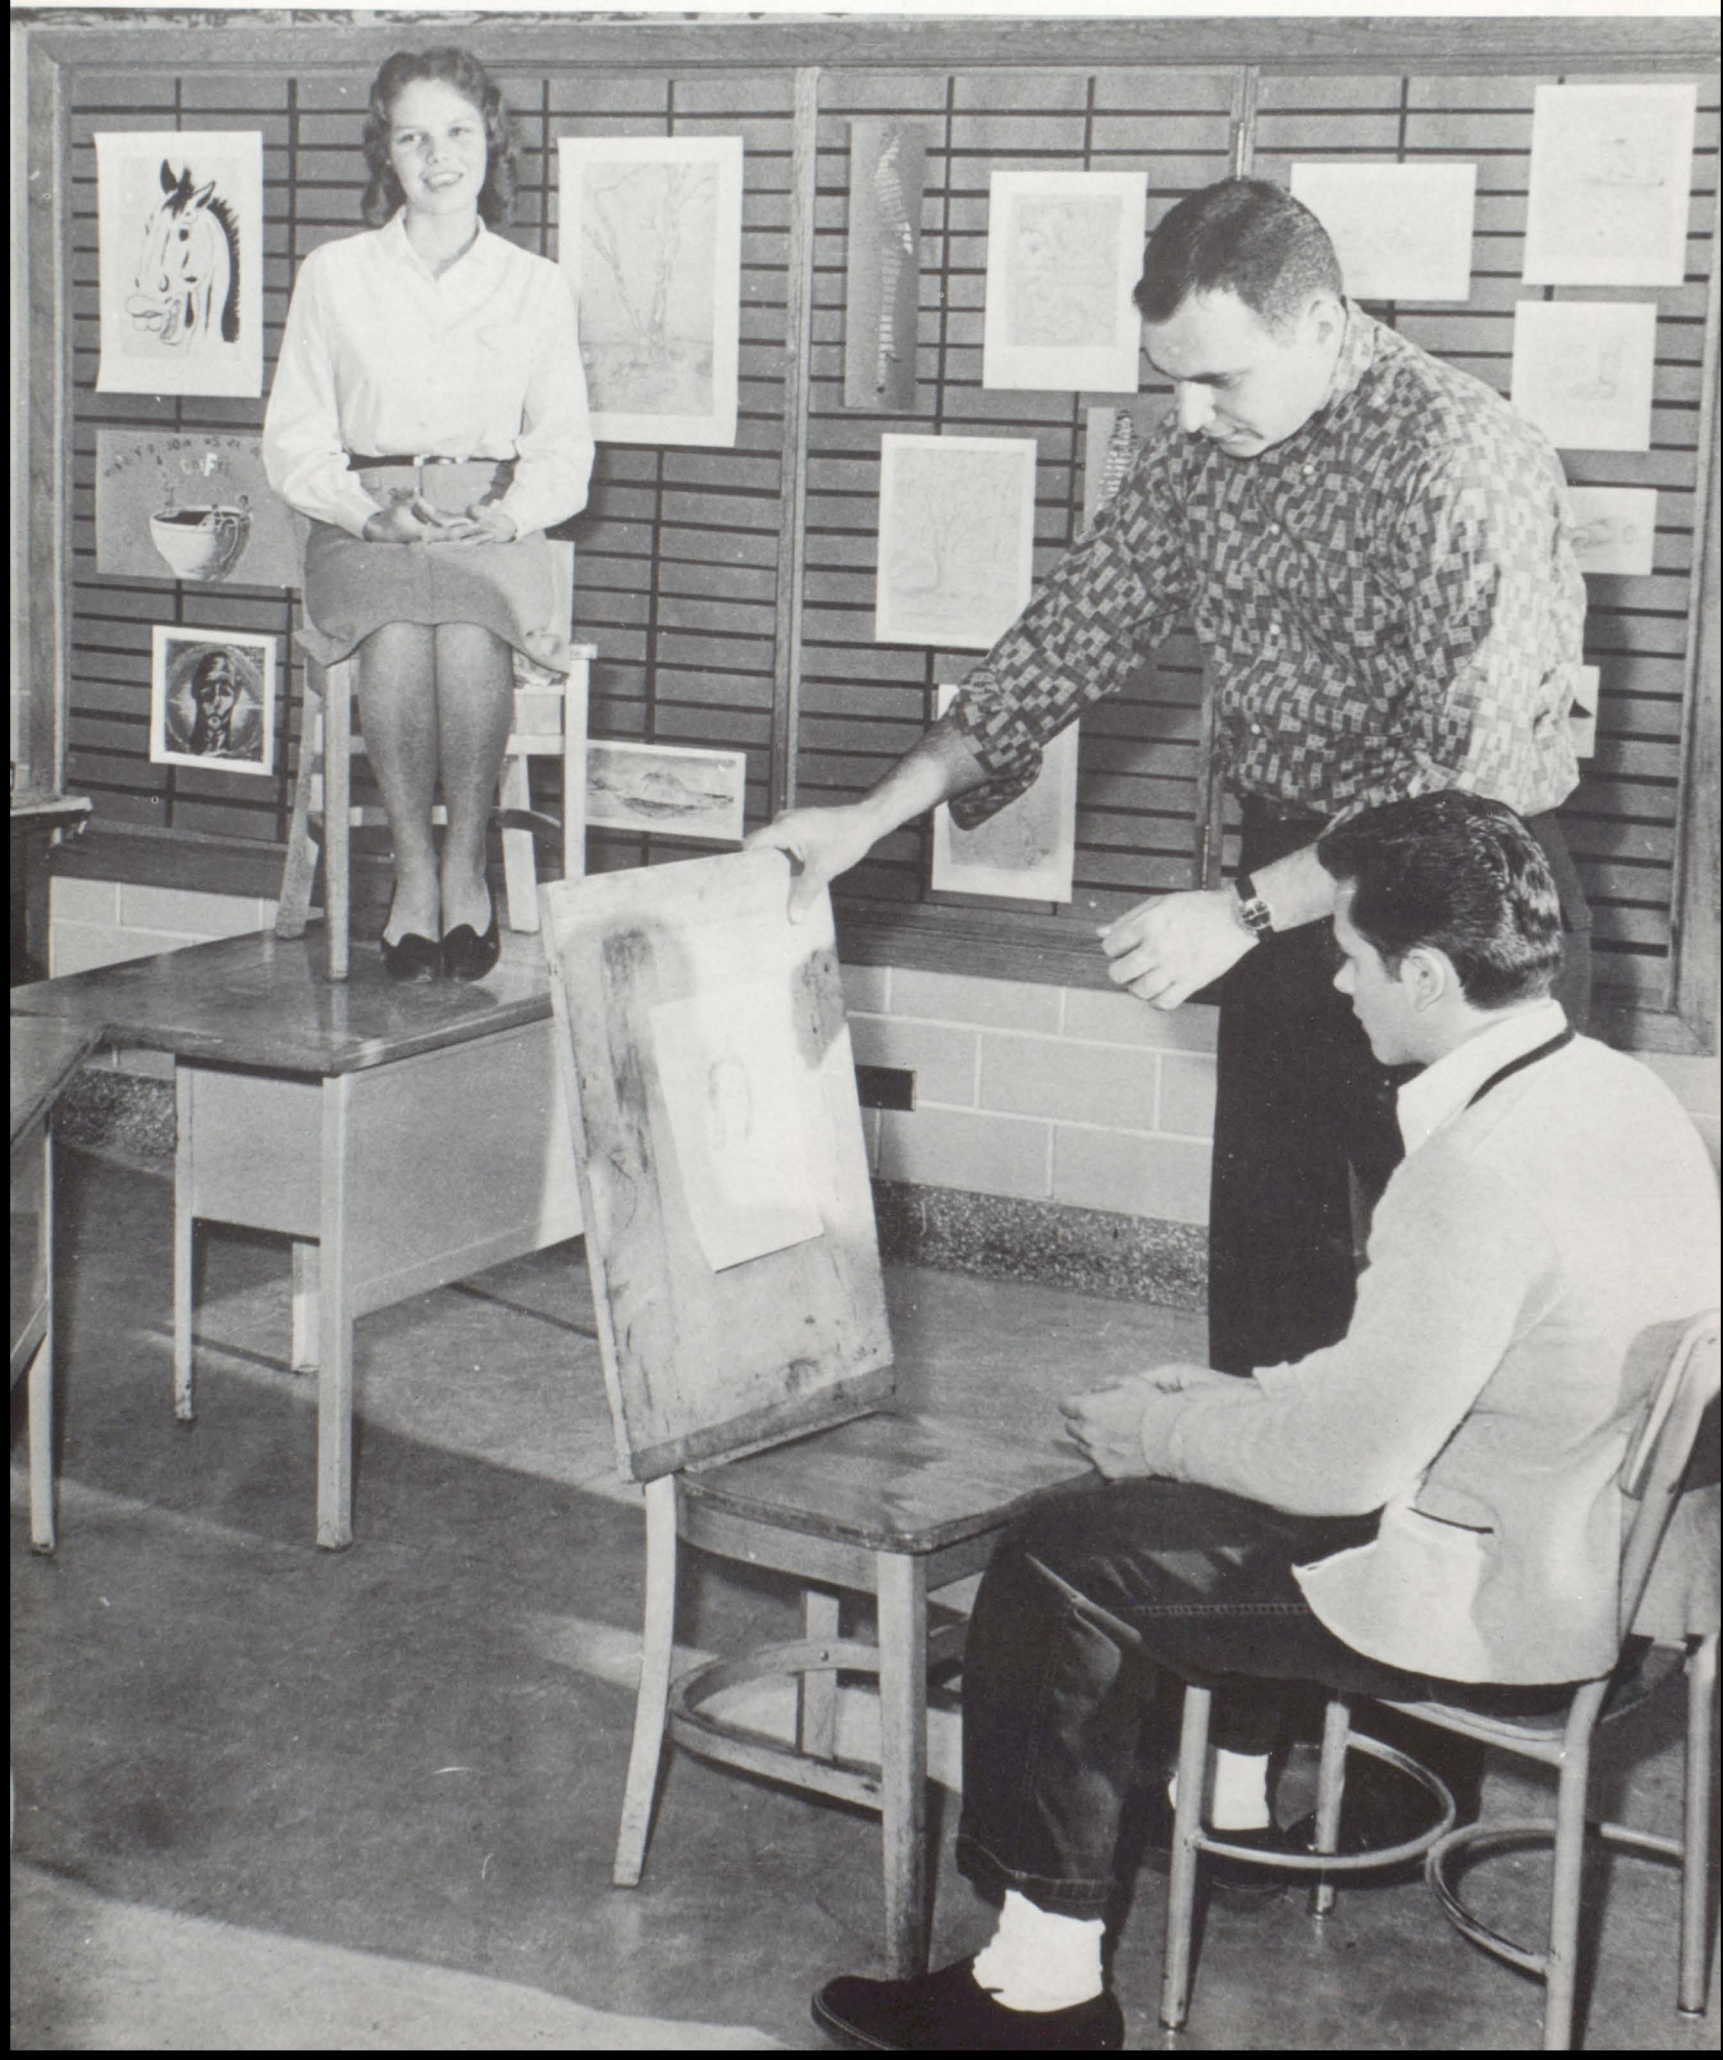

Required social studies courses begin with world history. As sophomores we study the world's social, economic, and political conditions from the Stone Age to the Jet Age. We are free to read widely about our nation's progress in U.S. history. As the story unfolds, we cover the events from Jamestown, Virginia, to Honolulu, Hawaii. In our senior year we encounter our first introduction to political science. The second semester, we may either enroll in world problems or in economics classes.

Discussions often centered around Eisenhower's unique visit to many foreign countries, the coming presidential nominations, and the current Gary Water Works proposals. In social studies classes we learn to examine ideas and facts with good citizenship as our ultimate goal.

"Practice makes perfect" may well be the motto of any aspiring musician. Advanced band students, Pauline Jones, Dick Epps, Carol Wagner, Judy Szymanski, and Gene Mastin prove this statement as they rehearse for a forthcoming concert.

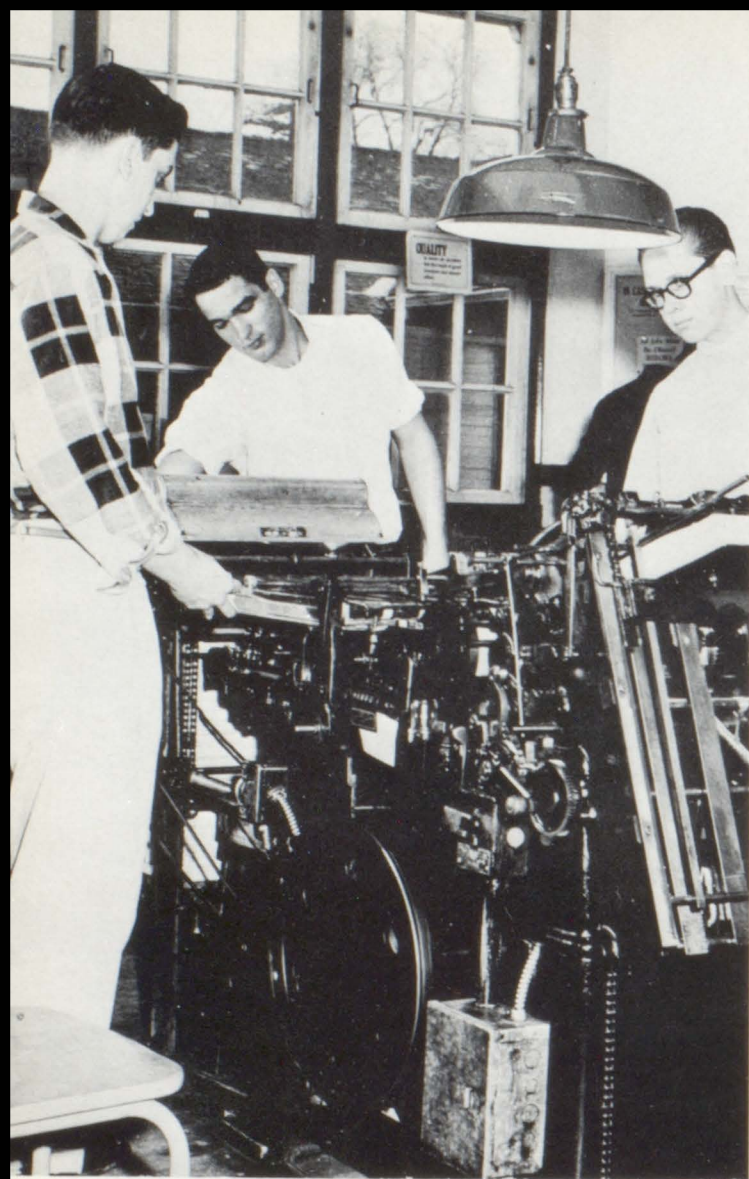

The opportunity to explore our talents and to develop an appreciation of the fine arts is provided by creative courses in art, music, drama, speech, photography, and languages.

Students with artistic endowments learn to paint an expressive picture. Drama students admire and study professionals as they attended plays in Chicago. The grade school operetta, PRINCE OF PILSON, gave those with exceptional dramatic and musical ability an opportunity to be recognized. Speech courses help us to think more clearly and talk more fluently. Speech contests, which give the winner an opportunity to speak before service clubs, create friendly competition.

The study of foreign languages enables us to know and understand the culture of others. Students may choose Latin, French or Spanish from grades seven through eleven if they wish to become proficient in languages.

Students may elect other fine arts courses which broaden their cultural interests.

Covering a wide range of interests and abilities, the vocational arts courses provide interest in future home-making, home-building, and do-it-yourself hobbies.

In home economics courses we prepare for our household duties which lie ahead. Many of the homemakers of tomorrow learn the basic principles of cooking skills. As the year progresses, entire meals are prepared by the more experienced cooks. Eye appeal is important, so personal grooming is stressed. Sewing classes develop an interest in fashion.

Skill with tools is an advantage as we take our place in society. In woodshop classes various wooden objects from cabinets to spoons are made. Other shops, such as print shop and metal shop, help students to become familiar with other occupational skills.

Typing and shorthand courses prepare students for college or secretarial positions.

A knowledge of these practical arts prepares us for entrance into the adult world.

Better Citizens . . .

Many different factors go into developing the physical and mental skills of students. And, while every subject contributes to this development, several contribute more directly.

In safety classes we are taught how and when to apply first aid. Through this instruction we develop quick thinking and actions, which are essential when caring for the injured.

Courtesy, good judgment, and the fundamentals of safe driving are only a few of the principles acquired by students taking the four week driver training course. Student drivers, under the guidance of an instructor, have access to both hydromatic and standard shift cars.

By our participation in callisthenics, basketball, volleyball, touch football, swimming, soft ball, marching, and relay races, the physical education program promotes physical fitness and good sportsmanship.

All three courses, safety, driver training, and physical education, are a vital part of our curriculum, for these are courses which lay the foundation for the building of better citizens.

"If at first you don't succeed, try, try again" is the motto of Mr. George Stroia's student drivers. As the driver of the car attempts to park, Carol Jarsic observes that one wheel is on the curb.

Climbing a rope is one of the tests of strength and endurance which must be passed in Coach Black's gym class. Don Hodurski is seen completing the long climb up, assisted by Fred Grubar.

Guidance Counselors

For college-bound students, College Day is a must. Here Bob Kirkpatrick confirms his College Day appointment with guidance counselor Miss Violet Street, while Mrs. Harriett Fulton and Carol Laskowski, assistant, make last minute preparations.

Mr. Bernard Shirk and Mr. Dale Weingart reveal the contents of high school folders to Ed Galovic and Mary Galanos.

Help Us Find The Way

Mrs. Kathleen Shults, school social worker, performs one of her many duties as she gives advice to a student.

We have all experienced a state of indecision. In school when such situations occur, our guidance department lends a helping hand. Educational, vocational, and special counseling, as well as testing devices, are the means by which we learn to know and understand ourselves more thoroughly.

Testing begins in grade school and continues throughout our high school career. By the time we are seniors we have a fairly complete record of our various aptitudes and skills.

Educational counseling makes provisions for our future with four-year plan sheets. They give us the overall picture of our secondary education. College-bound juniors and seniors are also given an opportunity to talk with representatives on College Day.

Vocational counseling guides those not college bound toward an occupation or career which interests them. To help us realize future goals, we may attend Career Day. Representatives of various businesses and industries talked at Wallace this year.

Special counseling services aid those encumbered with home difficulties or failing health, two factors which hinder the attainment of our future goals.

We are assured of a happier future because of the above services.

Student Council Increases In Membership And Service

Dale Allen, president of Student Council, reviews the financial report with treasurer Marilyn Young while Rhea Anthony, secretary; Betsy Corns, vice president; and Mr. William Vorwald, sponsor, look on.

"Always busy" could well be the motto of our student administrative body. One of the liveliest and hardest working organizations in school is the Student Council which co-ordinates all school activities.

Under the guidance of Mr. William Vorwald, Student Council adopted a new method of selecting its members. Pupils with a C or better average interested in membership were required to have a petition signed by one teacher and thirty students of the same grade level. Each class then elected two boys and two girls to the Council. Presidents of other organizations and four members at large are also included in membership.

The first big activity of Student Council was the Homecoming celebration at which our 1959 Homecoming Queen was crowned. This event was soon followed by the 34th annual Inauguration of Student Council members, officers, and class officers. Time passed rather quickly and December 4, the date of the Inaugural Ball, rolled around.

In the spring, Betsy Corns, vice-president, assisted Dale Allen, president, in organizing the seniors vs. the teachers volleyball game, a fund raising project for the S.O.S. Humanity Drive.

Climaxing the year's activities was Activity Day, a day honoring students who throughout their high school careers were outstanding leaders or attained high scholastic achievements.

Other officers were Rhea Anthony, secretary; and Marilyn Young, treasurer.

Mixed emotions are expressed on the faces of Student Council members as Dale Allen, president, confronts them with a pending resolution.

Girls' Club Activities Highlight School Year

Balmy weather, an attractive couple, and a sleek-looking car are the makings of a perfect evening at the annual Girls' Club Turnabout. Melanie Rzepka and her date, David Kazen, are just arriving at the gala affair.

Long before school opens in September, Girls' Club is busy planning activities for the coming year. The first big project is freshman Week, a week devoted to promoting school spirit and acquainting Freshman girls with the many school activities.

Another early fall activity is the annual birthday potluck, a favorite of everyone. The annual Christmas corsage sale and stag dance put the school in the Christmas spirit. Also during the holidays, Girls' Club makes their traditional visit to the old folks' home.

The Senior Reception in January is the first of the senior activities. In February, homerooms may participate in the Girls' Club Sing. The Ma, Pa, and Me Banquet, the Spring Corsage sale, and the turnabout in May climax the year's social activities.

Throughout the year, the organization, sponsored by Miss Shirley Bryan and Miss Dorothy Kouvelas, performs various services. The office calendar, changed monthly, is a responsibility of council members. Sandy Panchak, junior vice-president, arranged for the bi-weekly faculty teas, while the sophomore vice-president, Sue Wilson, was in charge of the publications for the year.

Sending appropriate cards to council members when ill was the responsibility of freshman vice-president, Roni Jelusich. Lorraine Bara served as president, Carole Laskowski as secretary and Pam Crnkovich as treasurer.

For many years Inkpot has fostered an interest in cultural activities related to reading and writing. Plays, movies, and T.V. series are among their current interests.

Sponsored by Miss Dagna Simpson, the club meets once a month in the home of one of the 32 members. Each member attempts to read one book a month and participate in a panel discussion concerning the pros and cons of the book read.

The informal initiation of new members in October marks the first social event of the club. The Christmas party was a success. At the end of the year senior members are honored at the annual banquet held at the Wagon Wheel Restaurant.

Inkpot is also a service to the community. A Thanksgiving basket is given to a needy family and members go caroling at Mercy Hospital during the Christmas season.

The year's program was planned by president Pat Hodurski and vice-president Barbara Vorkapich. Eileen Reinke served as secretary and Caryl Sofiak as treasurer.

Olympians Revive Ancient Roman Customs

"Oculi et aures Romae" is posted on the bulletin board in the Latin room. Latin students are given the opportunity to learn more about the Roman customs and civilization by becoming a member of Olympians.

Julie Tosheff, consul supremus, assisted by Gerald Klym, consul secundus, organized the year's activities. An informal initiation each semester and a "Saturnalia" party during the Christmas season highlights the club's social functions. In May, a farewell tea and party is given honoring senior members.

The Olympians, sponsored by Miss Agnes McLean, sell taffy apples each Tuesday and Thursday. The proceeds help finance the expenditures of outstanding Latin students who attend the Latin Contests in Crown Point and Bloomington, Indiana. Supplying a Christmas basket for a needy family is part of the yearly program.

Other officers include Barbara Polizzotto, scriba; Ruth Mahaney, quaestor; Sandra Chandler and Barbara Beeler, aediles.

"¿Habla ud. español?" Do you speak Spanish? If you do, you may join Club Hispania and further your knowledge of the Spanish language and learn more about the Hispanic culture. If you are a junior or senior and a second year Spanish student, you are eligible for membership.

This past year, Club Hispania, sponsored by Miss Angeline Prado, rendered various charitable services to the community. They not only donated to the U. N. E.

S. C. O., but also provided a basket of food for a deserving family at Thanksgiving.

Social activities included the annual Christmas party given in one of the member's homes. A Spanish theme was carried throughout.

Rose Turza was the presiding officer with Carol Wagner, vice-president, assisting her. Everette Nixon served as secretary while Maxine Pickle was in charge of financial matters. Gilbert Gruenberg assumed the role of program chairman.

French Enthusiasts Organize Les Parisiens

"Les Parisiens" is a very appropriate name for the Lew Wallace French Club, sponsored by Mrs. Jeanette Hady. In previous years the French and Spanish clubs were a united group, forming Sprech Club. Two years ago they became separate organizations.

Any high school student who is presently taking second year French or has previously taken the course may become a member.

Barb Kurowski presided at the regular bi-weekly meetings, where members learned more about the French customs and language.

In October an informal induction of new members started the social season. At Christmas, these "la femmes" enjoyed themselves at the annual Christmas party. By donating a Christmas basket to a needy family, they learned the true meaning of Christmas. The sale of paper-back French books added to their treasury, of which Sharon Collins was in charge. Carol Mackanos, vice-president; Carole Mattingly, secretary; and Barb Kubiak, program chairman, were the club's other officers.

F. T. A. Encourages Aspirants In Education

Future Teachers of America was organized ten years ago to give high school students an opportunity to explore teaching as a profession.

The first of the group's activities is a formal induction of new members in October, followed by the annual Christmas party. Spring is the season for social activities. A field trip to a college, a stag dance, and a party honoring seniors highlight the year's activities.

F. T. A., sponsored by Miss Marie Edwards, Mrs. Gerrie Ventura, and Miss Violet Street, is also a service organization. Judy Walker, senior vice-president, was in charge of the sale of potato chips. Dorothy Yedinak, junior vice-president, and Judy Johnson, sophomore vice-president, organized the Christmas basket, which was given to a needy family. By participating in the Teacher Exploratory Program and assisting teachers during study hours, members not only aided teachers, but gained experience in teaching. Representatives also attended the District Round Up, a convention of area F. T. A. members in the spring.

Sandra Plesko served as president, while Judi Jelusich served as secretary and Mary Goluch, historian. Rhea Anthony was in charge of all financial matters.

Today's Boys Are Tomorrow's Men

Around the track they go! Who will win, nobody knows! This is typical of the Little "500" bicycle race, which is co-sponsored by Boys' Club and Booster Club. Another activity on which these two clubs work side by side is the construction and decoration of the Homecoming float.

Also on the service program for Boys' Club is the undertaking of game board schedules for all sports. The sponsoring of a school dance, under the supervision of the sponsor, Mr. George T. Stroia, was another way in which Boys' Club rendered services and enjoyment to all.

Representatives, elected from each homeroom, chose Jack Mathews to preside over meetings. He was assisted by the vice-president, Reuben Sanchez; treasurer, Phil Clement; and secretary, Larry Emerson.

Booster Club members appear to be quite in favor of the referee's decision as a foul is called on the opposing team.

Come On, Team, We're Backing You . . .

To become better acquainted with our athletic activities, one of the first clubs many freshmen are eager to join is Booster Club.

Although Booster Club was reorganized just two years ago, it is one of the largest groups of participating students.

Cheering our terrific teams on to victory at seasonal games is only one way a member may show his school loyalty. Booster Club also promotes school spirit by decorating the Homecoming float and Gilroy Stadium for the festive occasion.

The Little "500" bicycle race for boys, the Biddy "500" for girls, stag dances and an informal induction of new members are other activities enjoyed by members.

A board of directors, under the guidance of Mr. George T. Stroia, club sponsor, supervises much of the club's business. The board, elected by club members, is made up of two students from each grade level.

To become eligible for holding an office, a point system was devised. By attending games, making signs, and working on other committees one may earn the qualified number of points.

The officers this year were Bunnie Lazzaro, president; Karen Philipps, vice-president; Sandra Panchak, secretary; and Norma Moore, treasurer.

The seventh and eighth grade athletic teams enjoy enthusiastic cheering just as much as our varsity does! The eighty members of Junior Booster Club, sponsored by Miss Ann Underwood, support their teams by attending the junior high games.

Officers included Marge Kucan, president; Gloria Chiabai, vice-president; Virginia Ballarino, secretary; and Janette Opsitnik, treasurer.

Honor Society Recognizes Outstanding Students

Last April in the glow of flickering candles approximately 50 outstanding juniors and seniors were installed into the Lew Wallace chapter of the National Honor Society, organized in 1933. This brought the total membership to 75 for 1960.

Only five per cent of the juniors and fifteen per cent of the seniors who have maintained a "B" average throughout high school are eligible for this high honor. Students elected to the society not only have a good scholastic record, but also have proved themselves worthy by being leaders in different organizations, active in other activities, and offering their services in other ways. The faculty, judging on the basis of outstanding scholarship, leadership, character, and service, decides on the final candidates.

Under the supervision of co-sponsors, Mrs. Lillian Roberts and Mr. Bernard Shirk, president Mark Pilla conducted the meetings. Other officers for the year included Betsy Corns, vice-president; Martha Roknich, secretary; and JoAnn Hadberg, treasurer.

The attractive decorations in the senior library and the maintenance of the bulletin board in the study hall are just a few of the services performed by Auxilia, an organization sponsored by Miss Frances Kraft.

Auxilia members serve the student body by helping them select library books and by selling ink, pens, and book covers. The money earned by these sales is used to purchase articles to beautify the senior library.

In the early fall, Patti Putt, social chairman, planned the club's social events. A formal and informal induction of new members, a spring tea, and a trip to the Lake Shore Press in Chicago highlighted the group's activities. At Christmas time, members brought gifts to children at a local hospital.

Presiding at the monthly meetings was Mary Ann Steffus, president, assisted by Charlotte Kobe, secretary; Phyllis Woldahl, treasurer; and Mary Ann Mankey, historian.

White Caps Develop An Interest In Nursing

White Caps is an organization for high school girls interested in nursing as a profession. As a service to the community during the Thanksgiving season, they made tray favors of pine-cone tukeys for both Gary hospitals. Also, a Christmas basket was donated to a needy family.

Movies relating to the medical field and speakers from area hospitals provides most of the program for the bi-weekly meetings. Also, as an extra activity, the club visited Wesley Memorial Hospital and the Pure Food and Drugs Testing Laboratories, both in Chicago. Miss Lois Bjelland and Mrs. Kathaleen Shults, sponsors of the club, accompanied the girls on the various tours.

Serving as the club's president was Carol Foldi. Mary Lou Hasara was vice-president while Karen Keppell served as secretary and Betty Bobar, treasurer.

Astronomy Club Scans The Heavens

"Beyond the blue horizon" the Astronomy Club members search for the planets and stars which may someday be our home. They are able to do so with a six-inch, f-9, newtonian reflector telescope, which was constructed by club members. The $100 science grant, given to the organization by the Indiana Heart Foundation, financed the project. A second science grant enabled them to furnish the telescope with a clock drive and camera, making photography through the telescope possible.

Trips to the Planetarium and the Museum of Science and Industry in Chicago have given the members a better understanding of astronomy and its related sciences.

The newly organized club, under the sponsorship of Mr. James Hill, is unique in the fact that officers are elected every eight weeks, giving everyone a chance to participate actively.

Biology Club Explores Nature's Realms

Have you ever noticed the flowers on the teachers' table in the auditorium alcove, or how much the trees and shrubs on the school grounds add to the beauty of our school? We enjoy these little niceties as a result of the constant efforts of our Biology Club, that strives not only to serve the school and community, but also to stimulate an interest in the natural sciences.

The fun in life is equally as important as the work.

Biology Club members enjoy themselves at an annual Christmas party, a picnic in the spring, social periods at some meetings, and field trips under the supervision of the club sponsor, Miss Lola Lemon.

President Dorothy Yedinak took charge of club activities, assisted by vice-president, Donna Berns. John Finch and assistant Ken Clemens, kept a record of the minutes and the monetary situation.

There's A Song In The Air...

"Do-re-mi-fa-so-la-ti-do." Only those in Concert Choir, Girls' Chorus, and Girls' Glee Club know how tedious practice can be, preparing for the Spring Recital, Baccalaureate and Commencement exercises.

Appreciation and education of music are promoted by the Choral Department, which is under the direction of Mr. Alfred Fissinger. At holiday time, the Choral Department showed us the true meaning of Christmas through lyrics of Christmas songs. As the 1959 Vesper Services came to a close, last refrains of "Silent Night" could be heard in the background. Participation in district and state vocal contests and the City Music Festival highlighted the department's activities.

Social functions were sponsored by the choirs also. On the night of October 23, the gym was transformed into a colorful wonderland as couples danced to the music of Johnny Baker's band. The department also enjoyed skating at Oak Ridge, December 21. Climaxing the year's activities was the spring outing in Chicago.

Freshman girls interested in choral work may become members of Girls' Chorus. Heading the Girls' Chorus was Marie Marino assisted by Carol Black, vice-president, and Rhonda Beres, treasurer.

Older and more experienced girls may join Girls' Glee Club which fosters a more discriminating approach to music. Officers of the Girls' Glee Club were Beverly Krol, president, and Judy Cermak, vice-president. Jane Millan was in charge of all financial matters.

Previous musical experience and ability are among the qualifications necessary to become a member of the highly selective Concert Choir. Roberta Broski was president. She was assisted by Patty Kapsch, vice-president, and Pat Kozar, secretary-treasurer.

We Make Music

"One—and two and—three and—," "keep in time," may be the words of Mr. Eugene Teeter while directing the Lew Wallace Concert Band. Any student who has musical ability and successfully passed Beginning Band and completed one or more terms in Intermediate Band may participate in Concert Band.

Performing during half times at our football games and marching in public parades gives our 62 piece band an opportunity for fine performances each season. Members give their final and most elaborate performance at the annual Spring Concert.

Pauline Jones as president was assisted by Ron Urban, vice-president; Mary Jean Teeter, secretary-treasurer; and William Foldi, manager. They planned the group's social activities which included a band trip to a neighboring college in the fall and a picnic in the spring.

"Practice makes perfect" may well be the motto of any Concert Orchestra member. In room 202E during the 10:20 hour, Mr. John Simons, director, may be found rehearsing with these talented musicians for one of the orchestra's concerts.

School presentations include the annual Masterworks Concert in the fall and various auditorium programs given throughout the year. In the spring the Choral Department and Concert Orchestra jointly present a concert which contains vocal as well as instrumental selections.

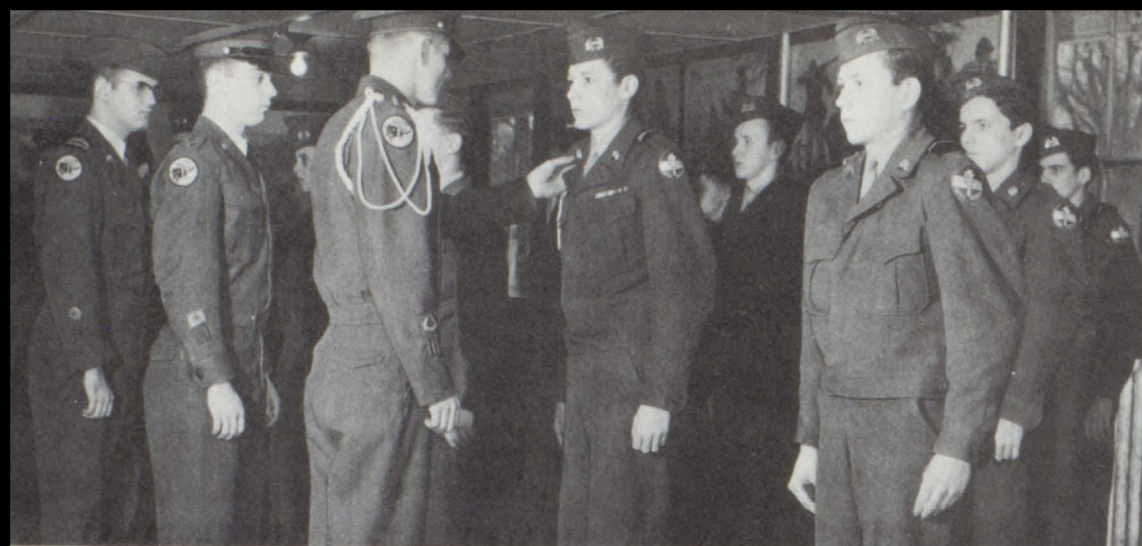

In order to become better acquainted with the cultural type of music, members often attend a program presented by the Chicago Symphony Orchestra.

Officers for this year were Pauline Jones, president; Richard Epps, vice-president; Carol Wagner, secretary; and Gene Mastin, manager.

R.O.T.C. Trains Our Future Defenders

Their uniforms are spotless,
Their drills are all perfected,
In tasks they can't be careless,
This life they have selected.

The above describes some of the qualifications necessary for a student wishing to join R. O. T. C. He must also be an American citizen, fourteen years old, and in high school.

Courtesy, responsibility, citizenship, and leadership are stressed by the group leader, Sergeant Daryl Sturm.

The daily raising and lowering of the American flag and helping to keep order and promote safety by supervising crowds at athletic events are among their chief duties.

A "buddy system" was created this year whereby one boy may help another in subjects other than R. O. T. C.

R. O. T. C. is a non-profit organization which sponsors the school Military Ball in December and the city-wide Military Ball in April.

Sarah Flynn, Honorary Cadet Colonel, gives candidates Eleanor Buzuvis, Carol Wagner, Betsy Corns, Melanie Rzepka, and Verlyn Charlson a few pointers on active duty.

Adding sparkle to an exciting football game between halves is one of the diversified activities of the eight majorettes. They also lead the band in public parades and participate in twirling contests in the mid-western area. Some of the girls have won numerous medals honoring their achievement in twirling.

With Marsha Watts as head majorette, Laurel Becker, Marilyn Brasher, Maureen Eisenhower, Carol Fisher, Doris Furgerson, Gayla Roy, and Kathy Witecki originate their own routines. These girls not only have shown skill in their twirling routines, but also have demonstrated musical ability.

Forensics Develops Poise In Public Speaking

"I disagree! It is not a matter—" The debate teams are at it again! A controversial subject and three or four participants with opposing view points is all that is necessary to get a hot debate going among members of Forensics Club, a club for those who are interested in public speaking.

During the year members participate in the weekly "Lew Wallace Roundtable," a panel discussion on various topics, broadcast over W. G. V. E., the school radio station.

In the fall, members are accompanied by Mrs. Mary Frances Busby, sponsor, to attend sessions of the Legislative Assembly at Purdue University. At this time they are required to give extemporaneous speeches.

They are active members of the Speaker's Bureau and participate in various programs for local organizations. Forensics members develop skilled technique and acquire poise when appearing in public.

Officers for the year were Sarah Flynn, president; Betsy Corns, vice-president; and Mike Garneau, secretary-treasurer.

Budding Actors Further Their Talents

Aspiring young actors and actresses seeking experience in the theatrical world are the students in Senior Drama. With Everette Nixon as president, assisted by Martha Roknich, vice-president, members worked diligently under the supervision of Mrs. Mattie Hannsz on plays which were produced for outside organizations as well as within school. The application of stage make-up for the seventh and eighth grade operetta was the responsibility of the more experienced Senior Drama members.

As an added attraction, students attend plays in Chicago. They assume the role of critics and analyze the technical, productive, and dramatic side of these professional presentations.

A correct record of meetings was the responsibility of secretary, Mary Ann Sanko. Larry Emerson was business manager.

We Prepare For Future Leadership

"This meeting will now come to order—" and so begins another Junior Student Council meeting conducted by Shirley Zivich, president. Since Lew Wallace is now a junior-senior high school, the seventh and eighth grade students are becoming a very active body.

Junior Student Council, sponsored by Mrs. Mary Benson and Mr. Lawrence Derthick, may be explained by each letter in the word "student," to Serve the student body, to Train good leaders, to Unite all interests, to Develop student participation, to Educate through action, to Notice student needs, and to Teach good citizenship.

Have you noticed the caution signs in the West Building? These safety measures are due to the efforts of Council members. Osimu Asakawa, the Japanese orphan previously sponsored by Mrs. Doris Boose, is now supported by the Council.

Matinee dances, providing entertainment for junior high students, climax the group's social activities.

Other officers include Peter Vasil, vice-president; Janette Opsitnik, secretary; and John Hady, treasurer.

Auditorium Crew Works Behind The Scenes

The curtain opens, the stage is set, and the audience relaxes for an enjoyable performance. Little thought is given to the work and preparation of the staging and lighting effects for the program. The many facets of staging, building appropriate sets, and the upkeep of the facilities used, are the responsibilities of these boys who comprise the stage crew and craft class, instructed by Mrs. Mattie Hannsz.

Many after-school hours of work are rewarded by the success of the final production of such programs as the Christmas Vespers and Pageant, Instrumental and Choral Concerts, Junior Operetta, Girls' Club Sing, P. T. A. programs, and class meetings.

Auditorium Council, sponsored by Mrs. Mattie Hannsz, is one of the service groups related to auditorium activities. During the year members serve the auditorium department, by selling tickets to all auditorium functions and by ushering at these affairs. Also, a basket of food is donated to a needy family at Easter time.

Social activities include a potluck in November and an annual banquet at the end of the year honoring all seniors who have taken four years of auditorium, speech, or drama.

Judy Bartos served as the group's president. She was assisted by Sue Wagner, vice-president; Nancy Cass, secretary; Sharon Akers, treasurer; and Lynn Pruitt, head usher.

Programs of general education and cultural value, such as literature, drama, and music, provide a variation from the everyday radio program. Also, during the Christmas season appropriate music and stories are broadcast.

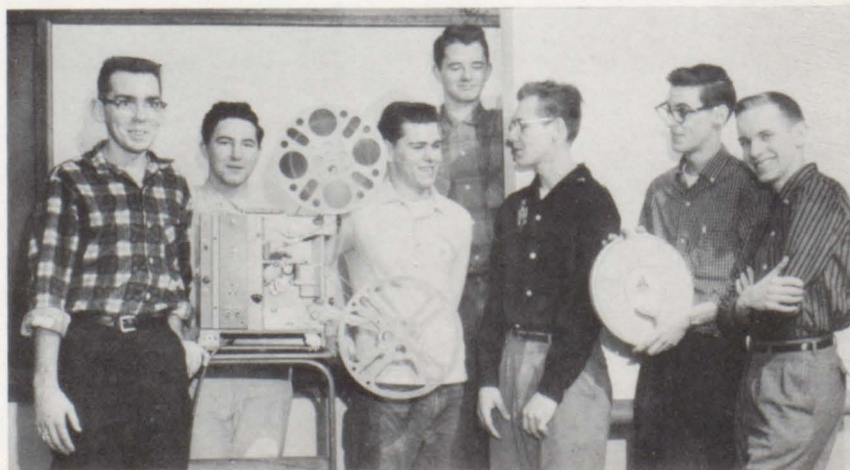

Audio Visual Aids Improve Our Work

Most educators agree that one picture is worth a thousand words. The films, shown through the co-operation of the Audio Visual Department, recreate such vivid scenes as a battle in the Civil War or "Man's First Excursion into Space."

By showing films, which are borrowed from the School City Film Library or rented from the Indiana University Audio Visual Center, the operators of the projectors are taught the use, care, and maintenance of these delicate machines.

Among other invaluable services rendered by this group is the previewing of current films. Mr. George Strimbu, head of the department, a group of his students, and any interested teachers preview the film and recommend its purchase or rejection by the School City Film Library.

News, news, news! There is always a constant search for information around a large school. It is the task of the Philosopher staff to report "up-to-the-minute" news in the bi-weekly paper.

Aided by Journalism I classes, the co-editors, Lynn Maris and Diane Novosel, and the six page editors strive to publish a complete informative paper for the student body.

After 2:20, room 214M is no longer a classroom, but a bustling newspaper office. There are always deadlines to meet, copy to be rewritten, and the final proof-reading to be done by Mrs. Kathryn Welsh, advisor, who guides us through all our news-filled hours.

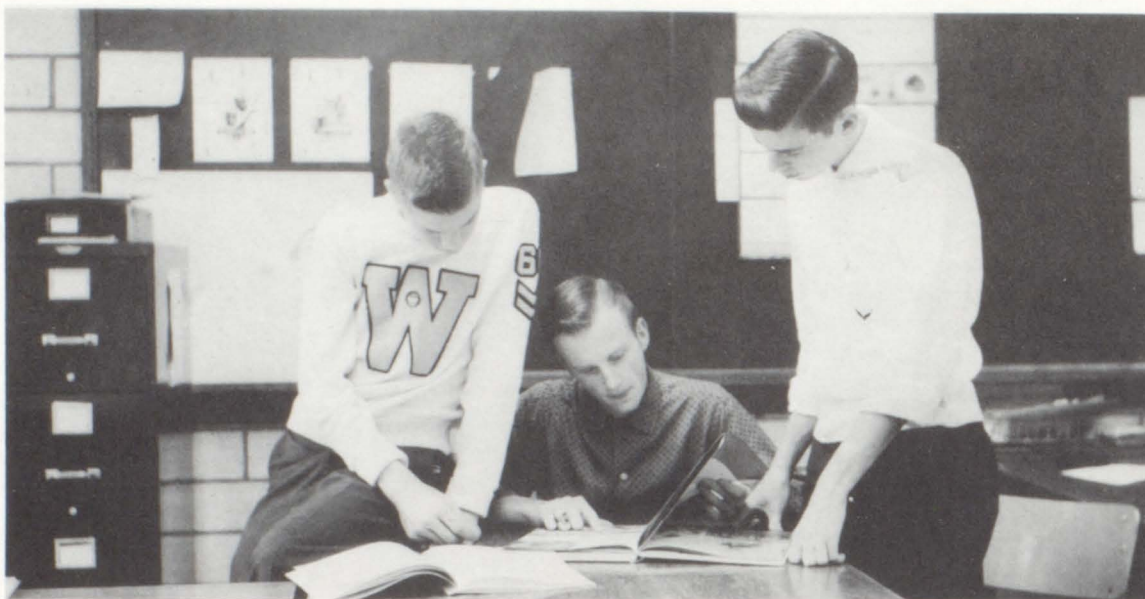

A calendar of school events, entitled "Buzzy's Bulletin," keeps us posted on "coming events." This service is rendered by our new mascot, Buzzy.

Among other responsibilities of the staff are the maintenance of the daily bulletin, the student news board in front of the auditorium, and the teen page for the News Bureau of the Gary Post.

The paper is distributed on Thursdays during the 2:20 hour.

Lynn Maris, Philosopher co-editor.

Delores Marczewski and Pat Gielow, Picture Day co-chairmen, sort Indiana School Pictures for distribution.

Making sure that "Bonnie" is not tabbed as "Ronnie" in the 1960 annual is the job given to Martha Roknich and Annette Bilunas, index editors.

Here it is! The 1960 Quill and Blade has completed its long journey which began last summer when Editor Eleanor Buzuvis attended the High School Journalism Institute at Indiana University.

With the exception of class pictures taken by Indiana School Pictures, our annual is completely a student creation. The editors prepared the dummies and wrote the copy while Mr. George Strimbu's photography classes were in charge of all photography.

When plans were complete, conferences with Mrs. Kathryn Welsh, journalism advisor, lasted many hours after the 3:15 dismissal bell. Copy had to be in at a certain deadline and no delaying; names were checked for correct spelling so that when the final copy was sent to the Norman King Company of Berwyn, Illinois, everyone felt that it was a job well done.

Here is a book representing many tedious, work-filled hours of an academic editor, a club editor, and class editors, who, all intent on their work, tried to make this year's annual the best.

The 1960 Quill and Blade is now in your possession. Pictured in school life are your life-long friends and your devoted teachers. It is a memory book, one which you will refer to through out the years.

Gridmen Capture City Championship Crown

After a 14 year absence, the City Championship Football Trophy was returned to Lew Wallace by this year's determined football team.

Hard work was the key word in telling the success story of this year's 7-2 season for the Wallace Hornets. The story began last June when the team held voluntary workouts to get into shape. When formal practice began on August 15, the boys were ready and rarin' to go.

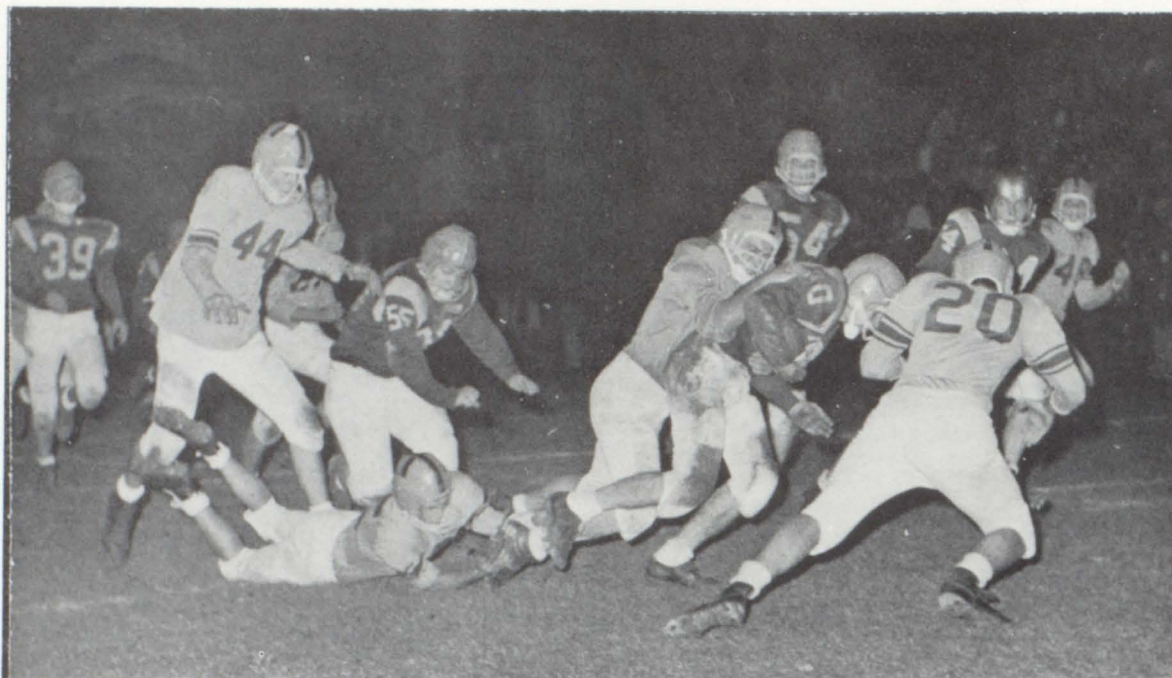

Under the guidance of Coach Joseph Black and Coach Lawrence Martin, the future champs blocked and tackled, tackled and blocked, from 7:00 to 9:00 in the morning and then from 1:00 to 3:00 in the afternoon. It was hard work, but they saw their sweat and toil pay off in the Football-O-Rama with a 9-0 win over our arch rival, Emerson.

For the hard-working football fanatics there was no rest. They practiced before and after school, and the list of wins continued to pile up. The Black and Gold had a 5-0 record until Whiting and Hobart threw stumbling blocks in their path. With amazing resiliency, they bounced back two weeks later, winning the City Championship from Roosevelt 13-0.

The 1959-60 season came to a close November 6 with a win over Valpo, thus writing the final chapter in the story of one of the most successful seasons Wallace's football team has ever enjoyed.

Dom DeBonis, No. 21, cuts and breaks for the end zone as two Emerson players cut in, while Tom Magnetti, No. 10, looks on.

In their third regular season game this year, the Hornets exploded against the Golden Tornadoes of Emerson, walloping them 33-0. Homecoming was made more joyful by this, the first Wallace victory over Emerson since 1952.

Wallace took the opening kickoff and marched down the field to Emerson's 36 yard line. Then Dan Mudrich broke through the middle and went into the end zone for our first score. Late in the first quarter Dom DeBonis collected six more points for us by sweeping around end from the 11.

The Hornet's strong defensive line stopped three Tornadoes scoring threats. As the half drew to a close, Dan again burst through to pay dirt from the two.

The third quarter was scoreless for both teams. Emerson seemingly had the Hornet attack stymied.

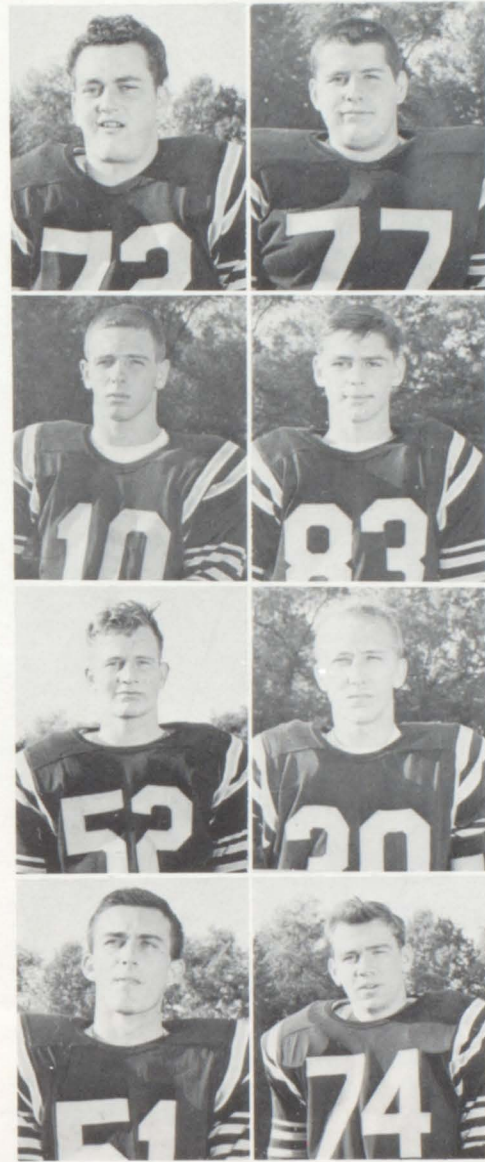

Then, in the last quarter the Wallacites came alive and pounded across two more touchdowns, one by Curt Cleaver from the three and one by Dan Sopczak from eight yards out.

Experience Molds Frosh and Reserves for Future

Although not always in the spotlight, this year's reserve and freshman football teams played and worked just as hard as their varsity counterparts.

Nearly every Saturday morning following a varsity game, the sound of battle could be heard re-echoing over Lew Wallace's practice field as the reserves drove their way to victory. Under the direction of Coach Lawrence Martin, the varsity's younger brothers matched their feat by capturing the City Reserve Championship with a 5-0 record.

Either following or preceeding each reserve game, there was a freshman game, with Coach Dom Polizotto as the guiding force. The fightin' frosh came out second in the city by coming up with a 4-5 record.

The coaches agree that while the reserves and freshman receive little glory, their reward comes from the experience they gain.

Cheerleaders Keep School Spirit "Red Hot"

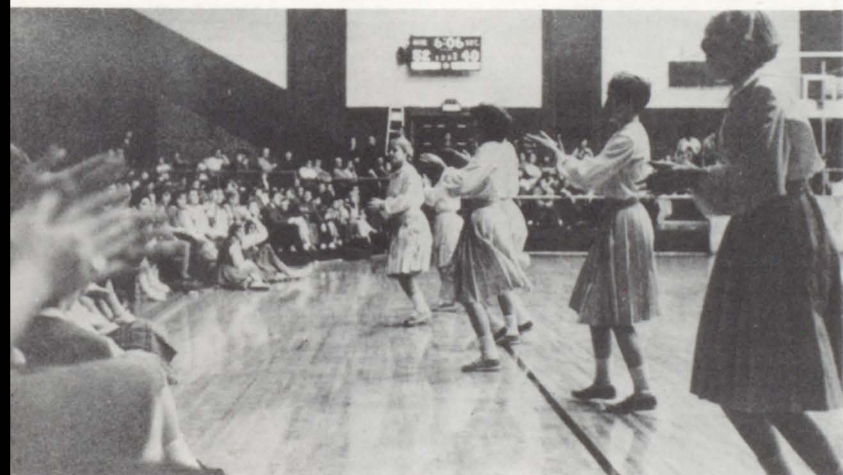

If any of the service organizations had to be eliminated at Lew Wallace, probably the one that would be missed the most would be the cheerleaders.

Judy Hodges, Barbara Jansen, Bunnie Lazzaro, Claire Malis, Karen Philipps, and Sue Wagner can be found at every football and basketball game, organizing the students in support of the team. Through their outstanding leadership, the cheerleaders do their best to encourage good sportsmanship.

Not to be forgotten are the reserve cheerleaders, Judy Chelle, Pam Crnkovich, Norma Gordon, Barbara Polizzotto, and Rose Ann Rizzo. These girls are present at all reserve athletic activities, cheering and encouraging the team to do its best. Miss Angela Hannagan sponsors all the cheerleaders.

The girls were kept busy having to maintain a "C" average in school work. They practiced, originated, and perfected new cheers, encouraged the merchants of Glen Park to display their Hornet flags, and helped organize cheering sections at all the games. The signs that went up before each game were also part of their responsibility.

"Get that ball and fight" is the chant led by the six varsity cheerleaders.

Tom Bishop, No. 14, leaps high in the air for the rebound while Don Druskovich, No. 52, looks on.

With one of the toughest schedules in the state, the hoopsters of Wallace posted an 11-9 record this season to give them 5 place in the conference. They were defeated by such teams as Gary Roosevelt, South Bend Adams, Tolleston, and East Chicago Washington. The Wallace defense, however, was probably one of the most respected in this area. Washington was held to a season low of 50 points, while Hobart was able to eke only 26 points against the Hornets.

The cagemen weren't loafing in offensive tactics either, with the team turning in a total of 1172 points. High point men were Don Druskovich, 275, and Joel Ligocki with 261. It was an all-around team effort combining the rebounding of Tom Bishop with Don and Joel's shooting and the floor play of Don Slys, Marty Svihra, and Dale Tarpo. The Hornets recorded one of their finest seasons in recent years.

Back again next year will be Bob Crawford, Emile Garneau, Bob Harder, Don Slys, Marty Svihra, and Bill Wilczynski. The boys and coach Dom Polizotto will shoot to better this year's record when roundball time bounces around again next year.

Strong bench strength and a well-rounded starting five, helped this year's reserve team shoot and pass their way to a 10-11 record.

The reserve games, which usually preceded the varsity contests, managed to keep many a fan on the edge of his seat with the well-organized playing. Coach Richard Polk, helmsman of the team made sure his players were in the peak of condition for every game.

The young Hornets, with their eyes faced toward the starting positions on next year's varsity, played every game with a spirit hard to break, as evidenced by their 38 to 37 victory over mighty Tolleston.

Our Freshies fought back from an early season slump to take second place in the Freshman Holiday Basketball Tourney. Under the guidance of Coach Clarence Day, the team members worked hard learning and perfecting the fundamentals of basketball. Passing, dribbling, shooting, and running drills were all part of the daily workouts. Although long and arduous, the practice started to pay dividends when the Frosh beat Valpo 36 to 26.

This year's team, led by high scorer Ed Plesko, had a seven and nine record and held their opponents to 647 points.

Good Sportsmanship is Stressed by "W" Club

"W" Club is an organization that strives to create unity among all athletes who participate in minor as well as in major sports. The club members try to get the student body, teachers, and players to co-operate in an effort to produce and promote better teams within the school.

In "W" Club, sportsmanship is a key word. According to Coach Richard Polk, sponsor, good attitudes are essential whether winning or losing.

To lead the organization in carrying out these aims, members selected Dale Tarpo, president, assisted by Bill Wilczynski, vice-president; Curt Cleaver, secretary; and Ray Morris, treasurer.

All boys who have earned a major letter in any sport are eligible to join the club. Induction into the club takes place in the spring of the year.

Coach Joe Black gives a clap of approval as he congratulates Tom Magnetti, Ray Morris, and Tom Bishop for their outstanding performances in football.

A second place in the City Meet highlighted the 1959-60 swimming season for the Mermen team. Under the guidance of Coach Joseph Black they splashed their way to a 3-10 over-all record.

Lack of adequate diving facilities seriously handicapped this year's team, but with their fine determination the divers turned in some very excellent performances.

In the City Meet the Mermen took first places in the 200 yard free style, 100 yard butterfly and medley relay events. Packy Clement won the free style, Tom Barnett won the butterfly, and Clement, Barnett, Ray Kirtland, and Pete Baranko combined to take the medley relay.

At the conclusion of the season the team elected Tom Barnett as honorary captain and Bob Erdelac as the most valuable swimmer on the team.

Spring Raises Curtain on '60 Baseball Season

The wind up and "here comes the pitch" as Curt Cleaver completes his delivery during batting practice.

The coming of spring brings the beginning of the baseball season. The first few weeks of practice are held indoors while the boys are getting back in shape. It is not unusual to see the players running from 50 to 100 laps a night in the gym balcony during this period.

The practice sessions then switch to the big field where alaf the mailmen, neither rain nor sleet nor snow can keep the baseball team from practicing.

Coach Lawrence Martin, in his first year as head coach, directed last year's team to a fine 12-3 record. Only heart-breaking one run losses to Hammond Tech and Hammond Clark in the last two games kept the Hornets from copping the conference championship.

Highlighting the season was a 9-0 victory over Emerson which enabled the Hornets to tie the W-NIHSC champs for the city crown. Outstanding individual performances were turned in by Dale Tarpo and Ed Naspinski who finished high in the top ten in the race for the batting championship.

Wrestling is one of the many sports offered in intramurals. Here Dave Cook and Dom DeBonis demonstrate the half-Nelson.

For the second consecutive year a complete program of intramural sports was planned. Under the direction of Mr. George Stroia, boys had a chance to participate in a wide range of activities.

Included in the fall program are football, field hockey, cross country, and softball. The winter months see a program consisting of wrestling, volleyball, bowling, basketball, and swimming. Golf, mushball, tennis, track, horseshoes, and the Little "500" are all part of the spring activities.

Awards are presented to show recognition in certain events such as mushball, cross country, and the Little "500."

Linkmen Claim '59 City Conference Title

Built around a nucleus of five returning major letter winners — Paul Turpa, Paul Seamon, Nick Chabraja, Ralph Kalember, and Mike Narcowich, began practice in the early part of March at the Turkey Creek Country Club. The golf team continued to carry on the prestige gained by Lew Wallace in golf for the past three years.

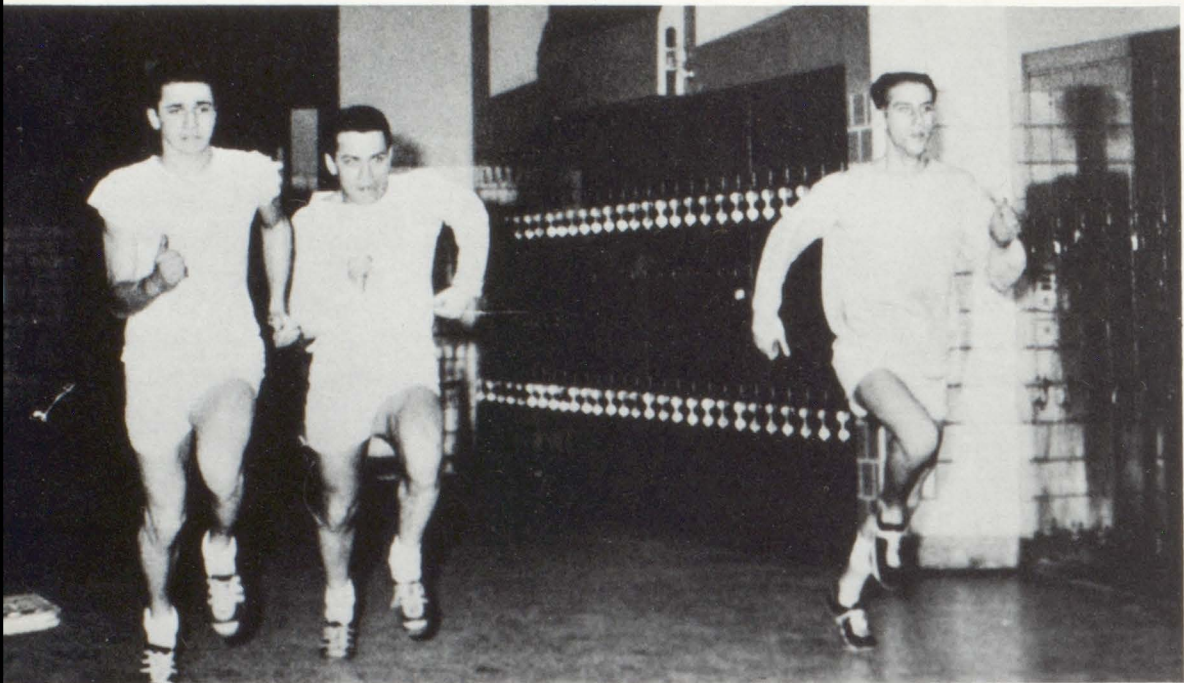

The team of '60 had to practice diligently in order to retain the Northwestern Indiana High School Conference and city of Gary championships that were captured by the '59 team. Last year's team compiled a very respectable 21-2 record, losing only to La Porte in a sudden death playoff and to Valparaiso. The defeat of the latter was twice revenged.

Nick Chabraja demonstrates the form he uses to crease 250 yard drives.

Fine Season

Cross Country team consists of D. Ellch, B. Vorwald, B. Kish, R. Sohacki, B. Mioduski, F. Seibel, A. Malis, J. Sommers, W. Wallin, and R. Foster.

Displayed by Harriers and Cindermen

The X-Country team romped through one of their finest seasons in the last few years when they posted an over-all record of 12 wins and 3 defeats. The Harriers placed second in the Western Conference with a 9-2 record, fifth in the sectional, and eighth in the N-IHSC Conference.

Under the guidance of Coach Richard Polk, the track team began practice sessions long before the winter snows left the ground. After months of long, hard practice, the cindermen opened their season at the University of Chicago in the City Indoor Meet March 17. They concluded their season by turning in fine performances in the sectional and conference meets that were held at Gilroy Field, Gary.

With the finish line only yards away, Bob Kish soars over the final hurdle in perfect form.

Bill Vorwald and Jack Sommers lead the pack going into the last lap of a practice run.

Teamwork and Sportsmanship Are Aims of G. A. A.

At an exciting climax to a G.A.A. volleyball game, Arlene Balakir prepares to return the serve while Theresa Burchett is ready to aid her if she should miss.

After school bowling at the Ridge lanes is a favorite activity of many G.A.A. members. Jean Michalik awaits her turn to bowl while Sally Mireles selects a suitable ball.

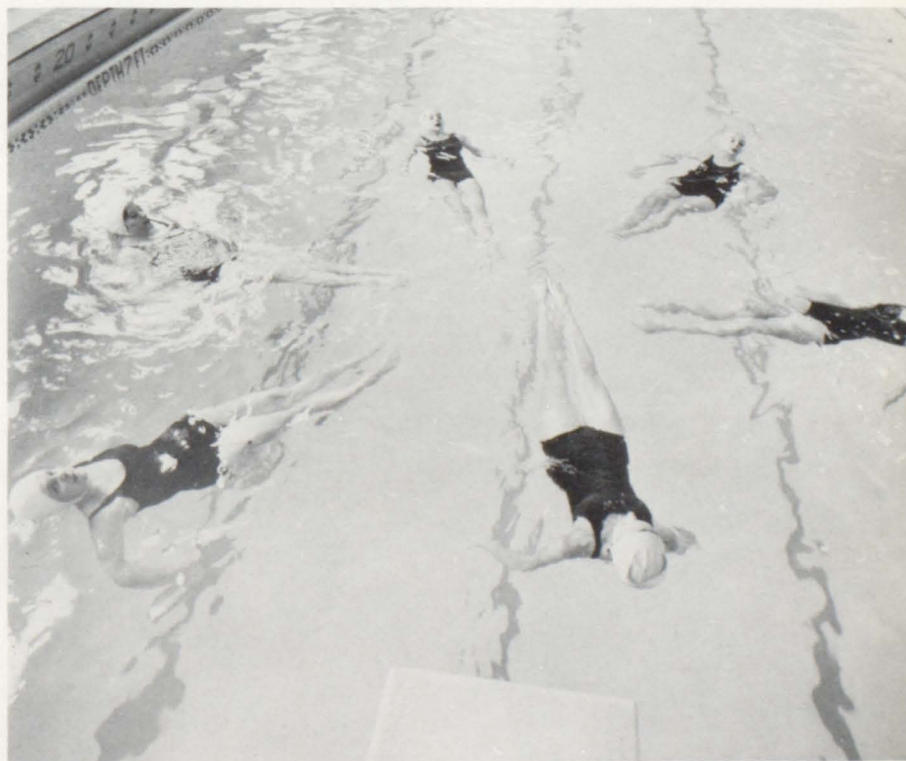

"We won the trophy!" is the happy cry of the winning team after competing in a tournament held in the portable gym. If you inquire, you will find out that these girls are members of the Girls' Athletic Association, one of our largest organizations.

G. A. A., sponsored by Miss Mary Sharp, is open to any high school girl who enjoys sports such as bowling, swimming, basketball, wallball, or volleyball. Janet Stewart, sports-co-ordinator, has been responsible for organizing these activities of '59-'60.

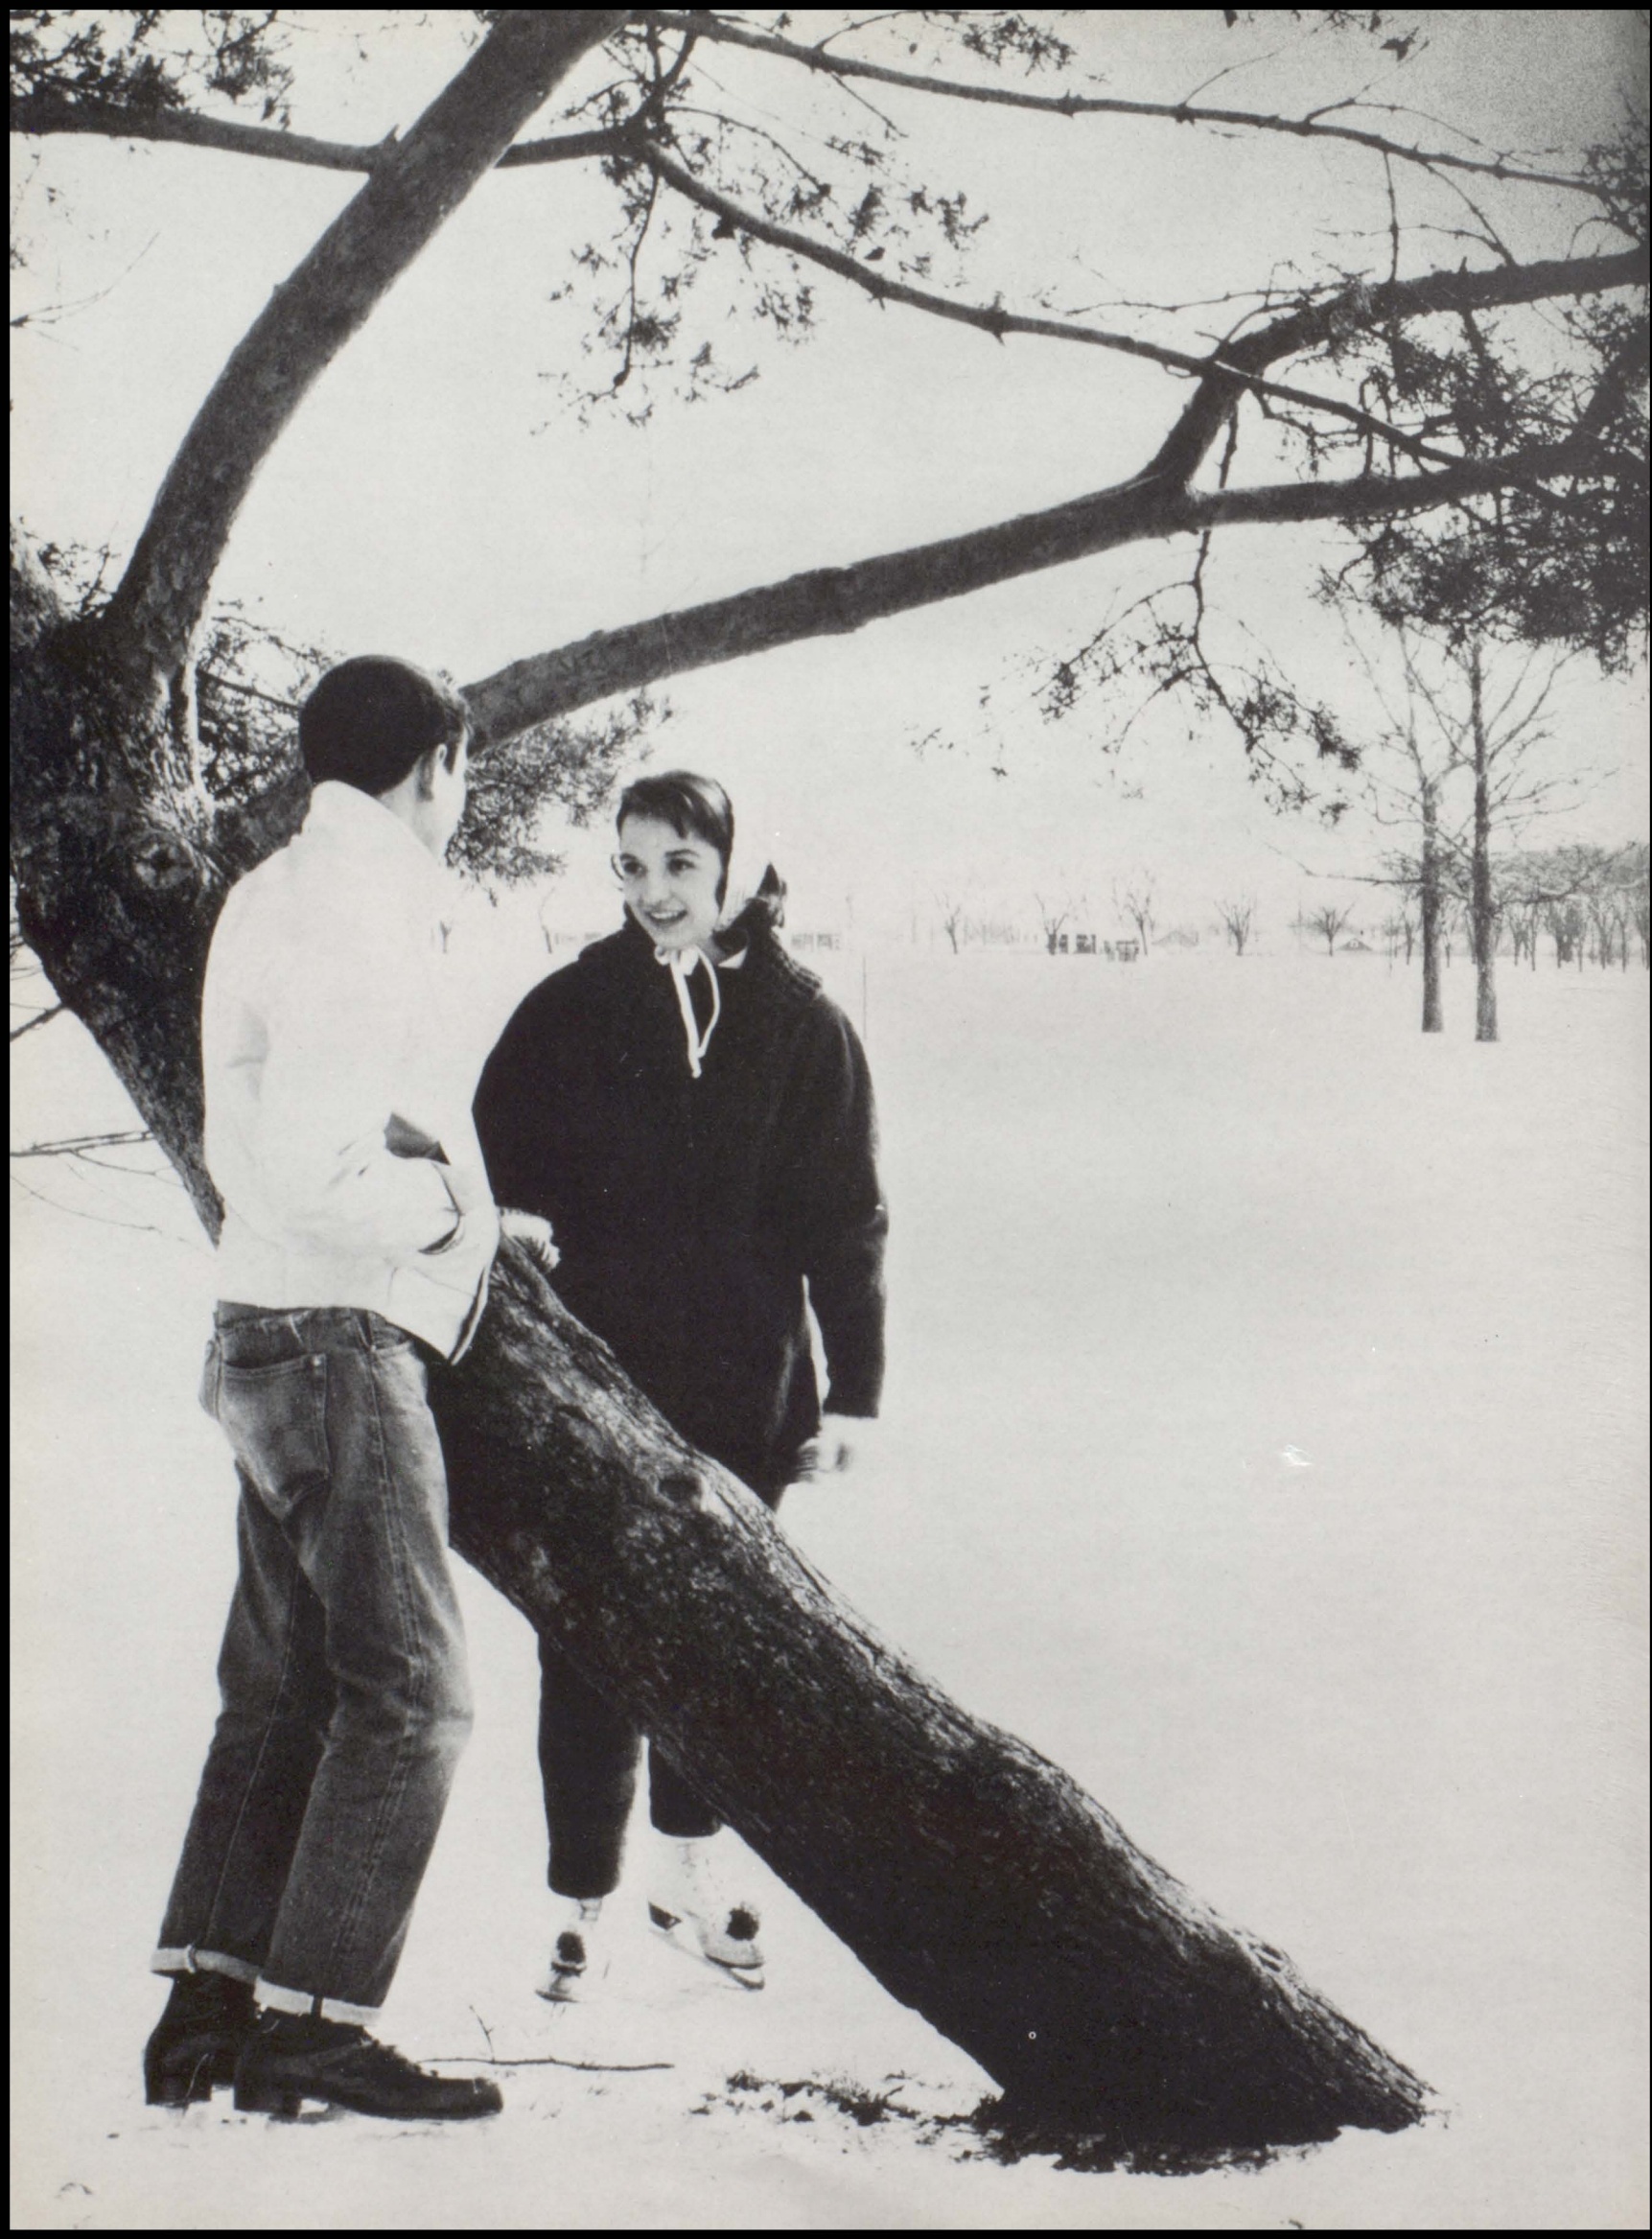

Officers and the council, consisting only of upper classmen, manage all council meetings, assisted by the secretary, Michele Darter.

Activities in G. A. A. vary from an informal and formal initiation in the fall to a spaghetti dinner, stag dances, and skating parties. The sale of ice cream and candy during lunch hours and after school, was organized by the vice-president Aretta Burchett. Money received is given to the treasurer, Aurelia Pasko, and saved till the end of the year, to be used for financing the camping week-end.

The annual camping week-end is the big event of each year. G. A. A. girls enjoyed this event the week of May 20. A banquet is given honoring girls who have done outstanding work in G. A. A. during the week-end. Officers for the following year are announced at this time.

Advanced G.A.A. swimmers, Judy Vician, Karen Moke, Judy Ryder, Donna Berns, Elinor Green, and Donna Mills, perfect their water ballet techniques.

We Share Fond Memories

A rain drenched crowd watching the Froebel-Wallace game,

A skating party given on a frosty winter night,

A study hall "clown" causing a minor disturbance,

An enrapt audience sitting in stillness at Vespers,

A nippy day spent selling "Peanuts for Polio,"

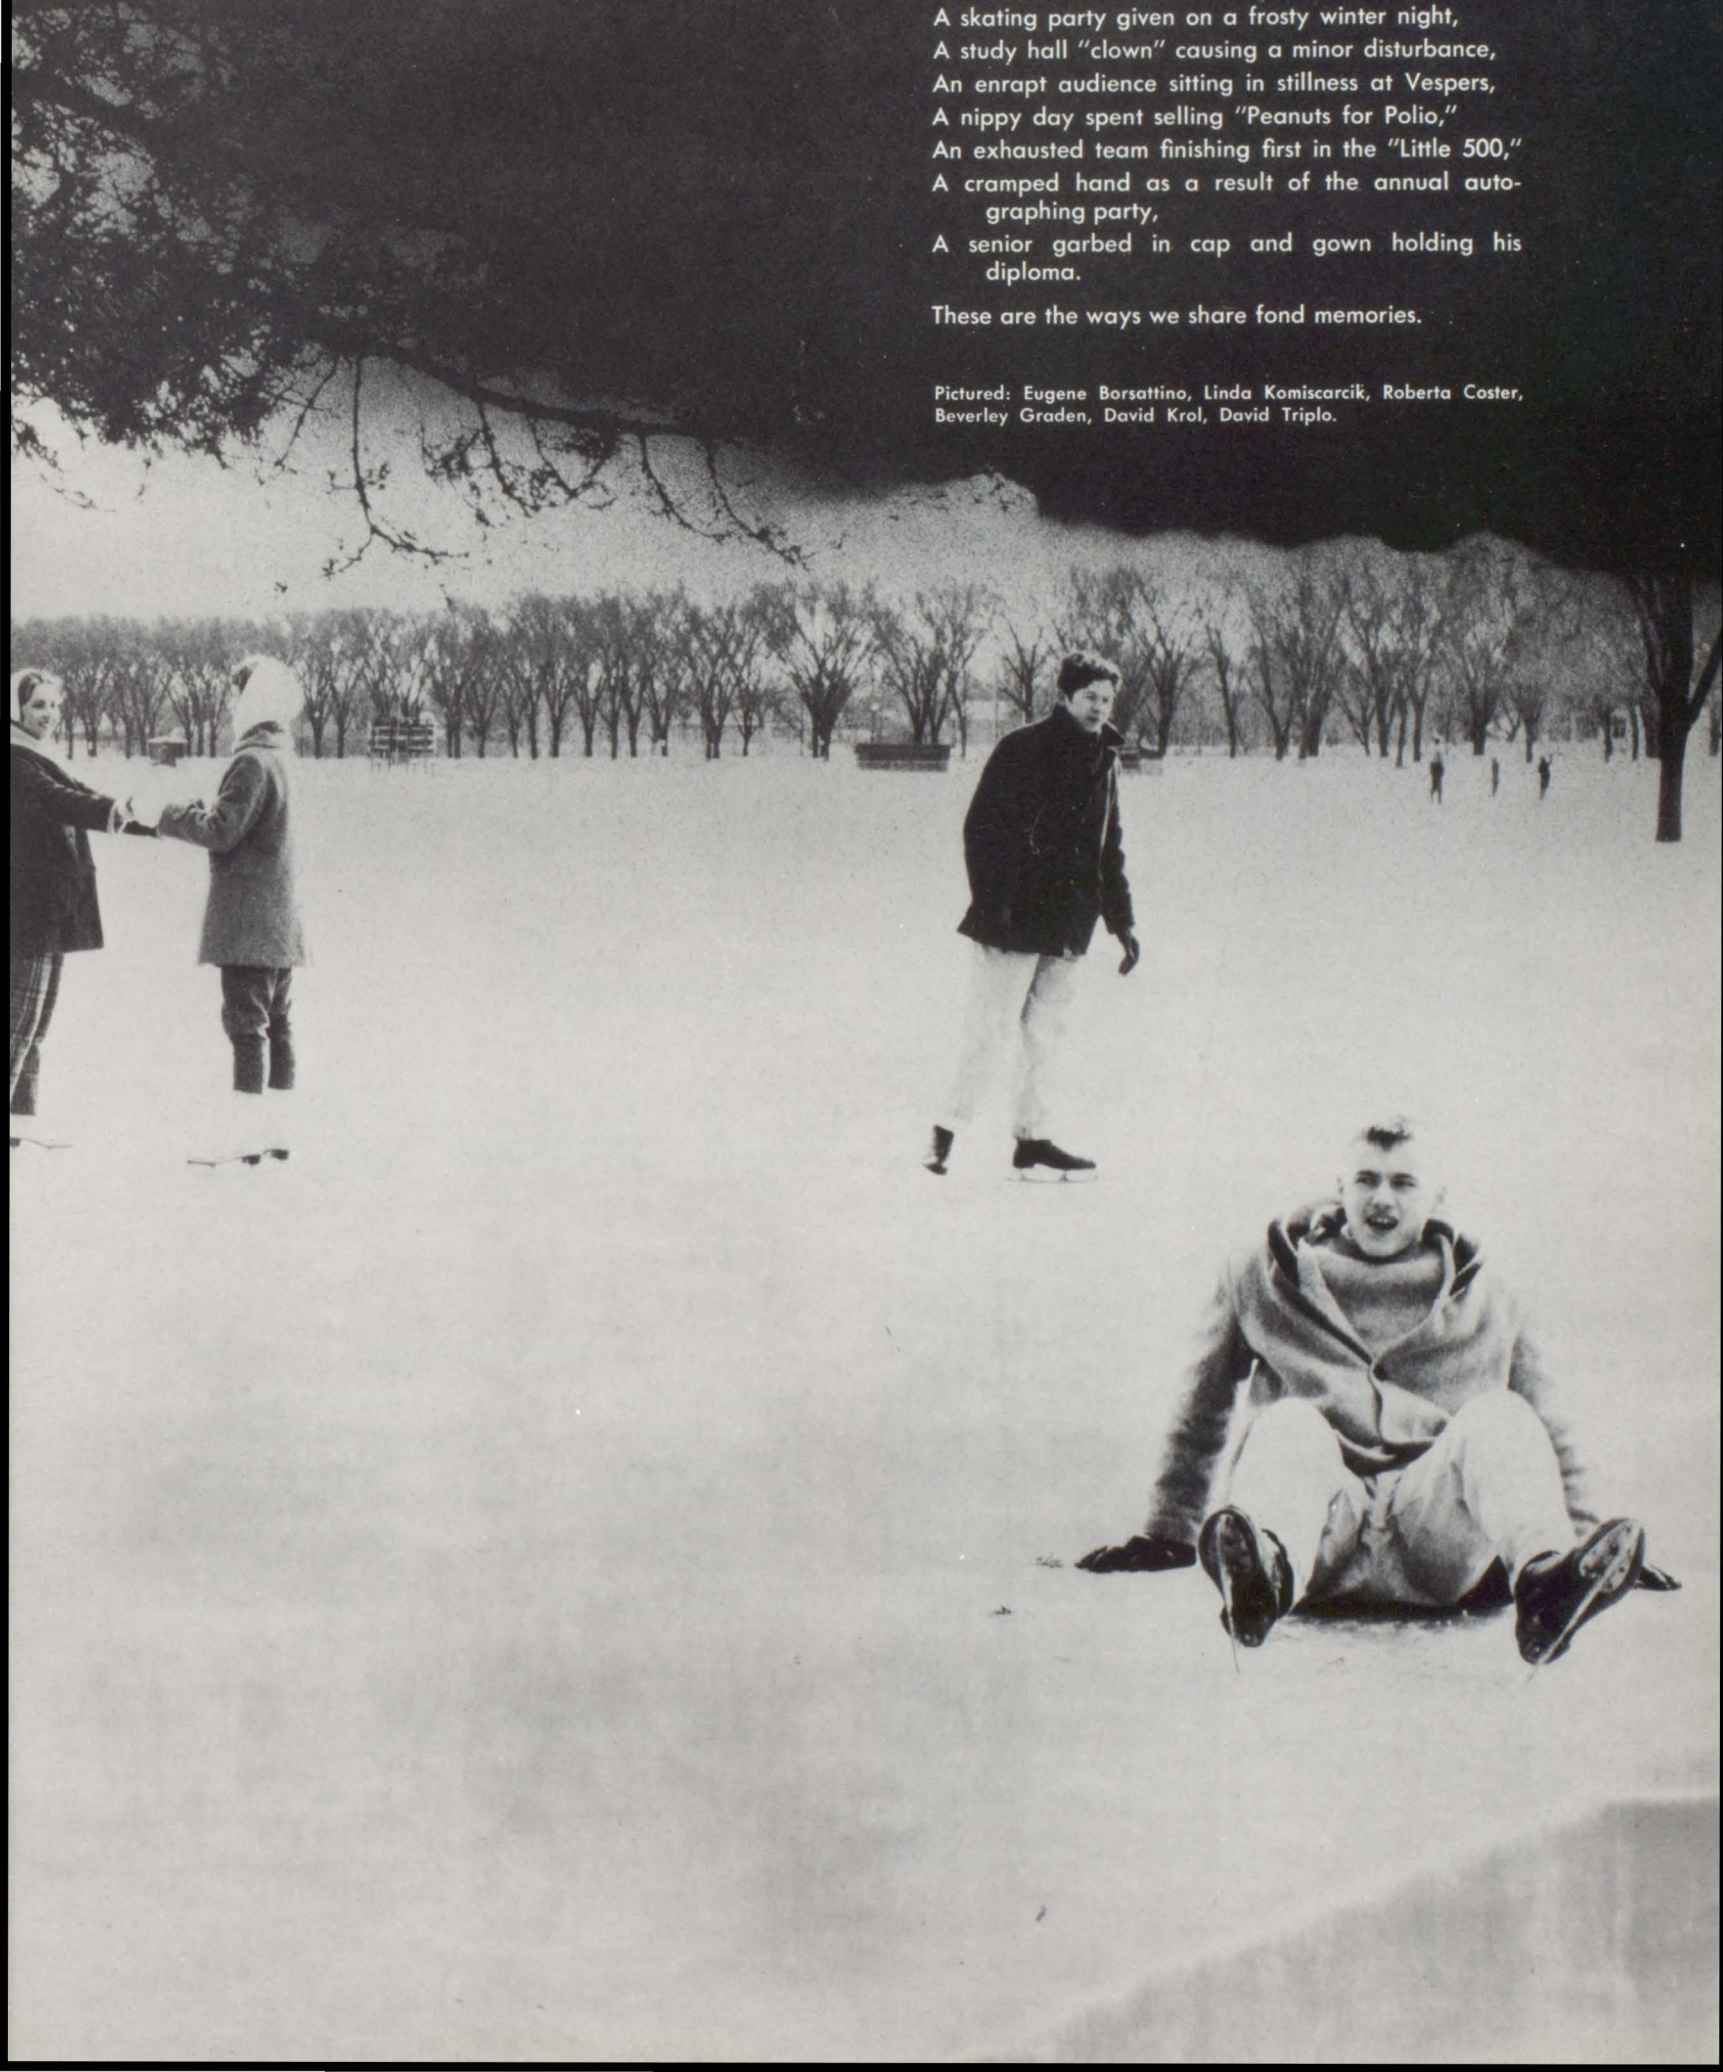

An exhausted team finishing first in the "Little 500,"

A cramped hand as a result of the annual auto-graphing party,

A senior garbed in cap and gown holding his diploma.

These are the ways we share fond memories.

Senior class officers include Ron Blake, vice-president; Sarah Flynn, secretary; Bob Mioduski, president; and Betsy Corns, treasurer.

Seniors Take Last Glimpse of High School Days

Tonight as we see our 1960 QUILL AND BLADE for the first time, we realize that in just two and one half short weeks we will close the doors of our high school education.

It has been a busy year for us, filled with difficult studies as well as many exciting activities. Class elections were first on the agenda. We selected Bob Mioduski as president assisted by Ronald Blake, vice-president. Sarah Flynn served as secretary and Betsy Corns as treasurer.

As the year progressed, we encountered the Senior Reception. Ordering calling cards and invitations, sending in college applications, being measured for caps and gowns, and attending the Junior-Senior Prom made us realize how little time remained until we would cross the stage of Memorial Auditorium on Graduation night to receive our diplomas.

In the few short weeks that remain we must squeeze in Baccalaureate, the Senior Luncheon, and finally Commencement. We remember that as freshmen we wished for graduation. Now that it is actually upon us we are sorry, and yet, we are happy as we realize that our future is in our hands.

Class of '60 Socializes at Senior Reception

The Senior Reception, held on January 27, marked the first of the seniors' activities. Here Miss Dorothy Kouvelas pours tea for Lorraine Bara, while Larry McDonald awaits his turn. Rhea Anthony and Norm Graden are helping themselves to the delicious homemade cookies.

Juniors! Upperclassmen at last! We finally received the long awaited title and to make it official the distribution of class rings were completed early in September.

For the important task of leading the junior class we selected William Vorwald, president, assisted by Don Slys, vice-president. Marian Duda served as secretary and Madeline Kucan, treasurer.

Our studies became increasingly difficult and we frequently worked late during the writing of our term topics and the reading of the novel, GIANTS IN THE EARTH.

Still, we had our share of fun-filled hours as we participated in the many extra-curricular activities. We waited in pleasant anticipation for the Junior-Senior Prom, which took place at the Crystal Ballroom, April 29. Much planning and work went into making it a success and we, as juniors, were glad to be able to contribute our share of ideas.

We are ending this year with a feeling of accomplishment, leaving three years of school work behind. Now we have but one thought in mind—our Senior Year!

Junior class officers include Madeline Kucan, treasurer; William Vorwald, president; Don Slys, vice-president; and Marian Duda, secretary.

Tuesday, September 8, 1959, we, the class of 1962, began the second year of our high school education. As sophomores we faced many new educational challenges. Writing autobiographies, reading SILAS MARNER, studying world history, and working geometry problems were just a few of the frontiers we crossed.

Our ability to make decisions was displayed as we elected Nello Venturella, president, assisted by Jean Muir as vice-president. Carol Gregoline kept our secretarial records while Dennis Sides handled our financial affairs.

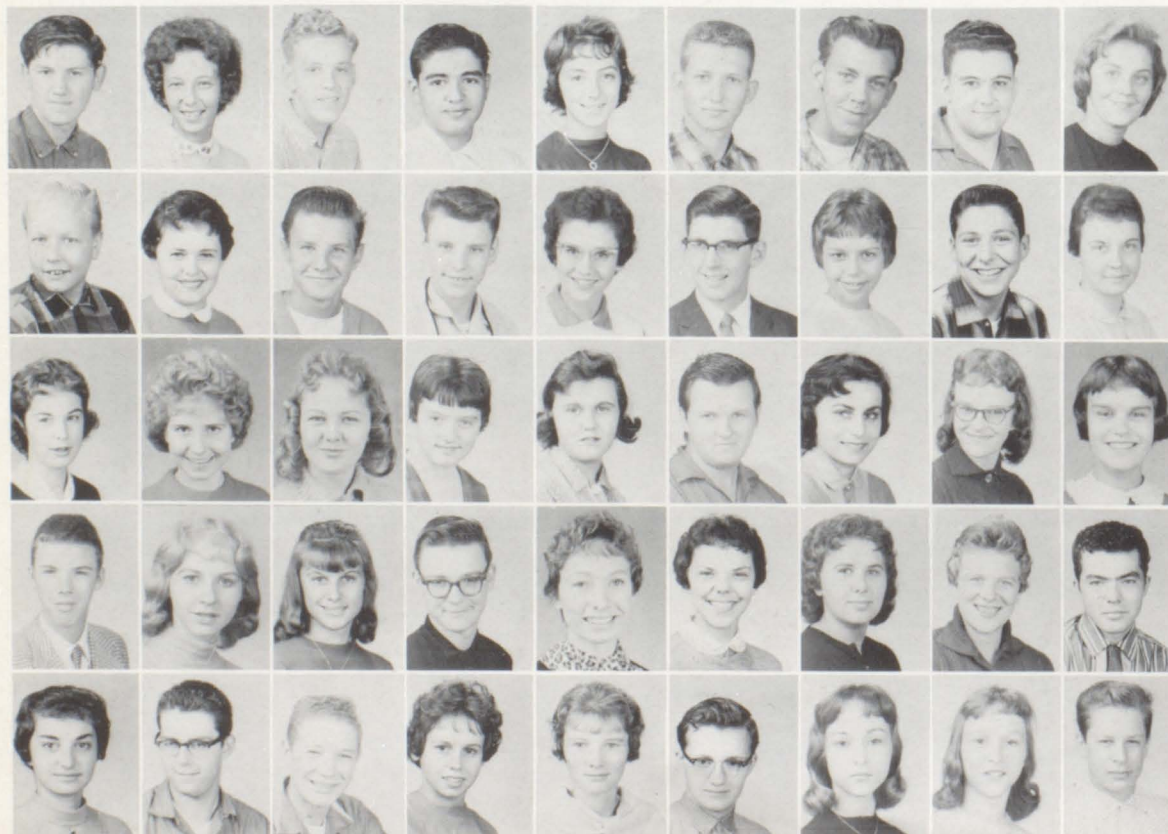

A big moment in our sophomore lives was the selection of the traditional class rings, which will be distributed next fall and mark us as upperclassmen. Our third decision was the name, "Leap Year Hoe Down," for our sophomore party, January 22, a night which will long be remembered by members of our class.

With all these studies, responsibilities, and good times behind us, we now anticipate many new and more important things when we come back to school next year as upperclassmen.

Sophomore class officers include Jean Muir, vice-president; Dennis Sides, treasurer; Nello Venturella, president; and Carol Gregoline, secretary.

Glen Park Teens Collect $3,323.69 For Polio Drive

The Variety Show at 43rd Avenue Presbyterian Church was the first activity for our participation in the "Peanuts for Polio" Drive. Dave Cook, master of ceremonies, interviews Ronnie Jelusich, a member of the freshman girls' "football team."

Barbara Kurowski, Tony Pappas, Lynn Maris, Tom Mordi, and Diane Novosel are engrossed as they count money collected by fellow students.

Many area teens participated in the campaign January 16. Steve Onowsky and Duane Horvatich give a typical sales pitch of "Ah, come on! Shell out and buy a bag of peanuts" to a passing motorist.

For the fourth consecutive year, we have taken top honors in the drive. Here Jim Chacharis, city-wide chairman, presents the first place trophy to Lynn Maris and Chuck Eckert, Lew Wallace co-chairmen, While Mr. Gene Rick head of the drive, looks on.

Freshman class officers include Beverley Graden, treasurer; Sue Hulse, vice-president; Bill Helfrich, president; and Louise Pattee, secretary.

We have learned many things since entering high school, and we hope we are now ready to assume our responsibilities as sophomores next year.

The unforgettable Freshman Week, sponsored by Girls' Club, was our first activity. During this week the girls eventually found their "big sisters" and were royally entertained at the Sock Hop.

Class elections followed the activities of Freshman Week. When the excitement of nominations and elections subsided, it was announced that William Helfrich was elected president; Sue Hulse, vice-president; Beverley Graden, secretary; and Louise Pattee, treasurer.

As freshman we also faced new responsibilities toward our studies. Latin, biology, English, and algebra constituted the average freshman's agenda and required study.

The privilege of attending the high school dances were extended to us. We also had our own party on a very special night. We chose the same date as the Junior-Senior Prom, April 29.

The first year of high school has come to a close. What lies ahead as the Class of '63 goes forward?

Hands do many things. Thus it was that hands served as the format for the theme of the 1960 QUILL AND BLADE. It can rightfully be said that our book was put out "With These Hands."

The drawing of a dummy was the initial step in the compiling of our memory book. Pictures then had to be taken and copy had to be written. In Room 214M, the clacking sound of the typewriters was heard daily as the staff diligently supplied the copy. In the East Building, the boys in photography were processing the pictures that coincided with the copy.

Pictures could not have been taken and copy could not have been written without the guidance of competent advisors. My deepest thanks is extended to Mrs. Kathryn Welsh, journalism advisor, and to Mr. George Strimbu, photography advisor.

I also wish to express my gratitude to Mr. Dean McWhirter of Indiana School Pictures, to Mr. Norman Koenig of the Norman King Publishing Company, and to the administration, faculty, and clerical staff for their assistance and co-operation.

Enhancing the book are the many added services and courtesies which were extended by VEACH FLORIST, HOTEL GARY, FRANK'S STORE FOR MEN, GENE'S 900, and the GARY POST-TRIBUNE.

The story of our year was related to you in words and pictures. All persons who made this possible now have a feeling of accomplishment. We gladly place the 1960 QUILL AND BLADE in your hands to cherish throughout the years.

Eleanor Buzuvis, Editor-in-Chief
